SMALL GRAIN IN GOOD SHAPE THROUGH STATE

Weekly Survey of County Agents Shows Benefit from Wide-Spread Rains

SEEDING FLAX NOW

Reports Confirm Decrease in Wheat Acreage as Result Of Late Spring

Fargo, N. D., May 24.—Seeding of flax, corn and potatoes is general in the state at the present time and the small grain which is up in excellent condition in all parts of the state, according to crop reports received at the State Extension Division office from 26 county extension agents for the period ending last Saturday.

Moisture conditions are very favorable, with the possible exception of a few of the northern counties that did not get in on the heavy, general rain of last week-end, and report that moisture is needed to start the seed in the ground. While the cool weather has retarded the growth of pastures, small grains have been benefited in that a good root development of the crop has taken place. The cool wet weather has also been unfavorable for the development of grasshoppers.

Preliminary reports indicate changes in crop acreage over the 1922 figures tending toward a more diversified system of farming. Acreages of corn, alfalfa and sweet clover will be increased over last year, while the wheat acreage will be decreased about 10 per cent. Exceptions to this trend are the greatly increased flax acreage and the reduced acreage of potatoes, from 25 to 40 per cent below that of last year. Lateness of the season and cheapness of seed have helped to check the tendency for a big cut in the potato acreage, and evidently many farmers are following the axiom that "Cheap seed is the best seed in the fall."

Individual reports from 26 counties for the period ending last Saturday follow:

McLean—"Seeding of small grain is about finished with the exception of flax. A small amount of corn has been planted. Farmers estimate a reduction in wheat acreage of 30 per cent. Small grains that are up are looking fine. Most fields of winter wheat have been damaged materially by winter killing. A heavy rain Friday night benefited the crops. Only one farmer has reported noticing any grasshopper eggs so far this spring."—A. L. Morling, Washburn.

Morton—"Wheat seeding was finished last week and farmers are now planting large acreages of corn and flax. Most of the wheat is up and some of it is four inches high. An increased amount of alfalfa is being planted this year, and old fields are looking fine. Some gopher damage has been reported to alfalfa fields. Cold weather prevailed during the week with a light snow on Monday night and rain Tuesday."—Geo. Ise, Mayan.

Slope—"Wheat seeding is finished and practically all of the oats is in. Corn and flax planting will begin next week. Reports indicate that the flax acreage here will be increased 200 per cent from that of last year. Nearly an inch of rain fell during the week and cool weather prevailed."—Chas. Eastgate, Amidon.

McKenzie—"Most of the wheat seeding is finished and planting of oats will be about over after next week. Land plowed from now until June 1 will be seeded to flax and corn. Frosty nights with rain and snow the first half of the week have delayed development of pastures and meadows."—Paul C. C. Wagner, Watford.

Williams—"Planting of oats and flax is general and wheat seeding is about finished. Winter rye is in splendid condition. Winter wheat fields range from very good to poor. The weather has been too cold for wheat to make much growth with light frosts prevailing during the week, and a light snow and rain. Pastures are making slow growth. Gopher poison bait has been distributed in 20 townships."—E. G. Scholander, Williston.

Mountrail—"Wheat seeding is practically finished with a large acreage stubbled in, and an estimated decreased acreage of 25 to 35 per cent. Potato planting has started, and planting of corn and flax will get under way next week. Increases in the acreages of both of the last named crops are indicated with a decrease in the acreage of potatoes. Winter rye is making satisfactory progress and generally a good stand is reported. Fair, cold weather during the week has delayed development of pastures. Gopher poisoning is being carried on in 20 townships of the county."—A. J. Bredvold, Stanley.

COL. C. B. LITTLE TAKES ISSUE WITH PLAN OF FINANCING NEW WATER PLANT FOR BISMARCK

Editor's Note.—Request has been made by C. B. Little, Vice-President Bismarck Water Supply Co., to print a series of articles upon the water works issue from the city's standpoint. This article in no way should be construed as representing the viewpoint of The Tribune on the issue. The position of this paper on the issues involved have been made very plain editorially from time to time.

By C. B. Little, Vice-President Bismarck Water Supply Company.

Prior to the water works bond election the city engineer published a series of articles bearing on the water situation. It was patent at the time that the publication was for the purpose of inducing the approval of the bonds. Realizing the necessity for the adoption of a method of paying for a municipal plant whether the city took over the present plant or should conclude to build a new one, the water company refrained from answering the city engineer's articles because its only objections to the bond issue was that it was entirely too small.

The Water Company is one of the heaviest taxpayers in the city, paying nearly $10,000 per annum or 1.6 of its gross revenue. It therefore becomes interesting to other taxpayers in the method adopted to finance such a proposal, will therefore answer some of the City Engineer's statements.

The City's Method of Financing Unjust

The method proposed by the city of financing a municipal water system is unjust, discriminatory and confiscatory of the real estate owners' property.

Briefly stated the city's method follows: The operating expense of the plant is to be included in the water rates. The sinking fund and interest on the $225,000 bonds is also to be included in the water rates and paid for by water sales. The balance of the cost of the plant of $481,000, including the interest on warrants is to be assessed as special assessments against the real estate of the city. The following of this plan will place an unjust burden on the real estate taxpayers of the city as such method will relieve 35 per cent of the total assessed valuation of the city from any burden in the payment of this part of the construction of the plant. All of the personal property together with the property of corporations amounting to $2,192,725 in 1922 will escape its just proportion of this expense while it will all be borne by the real estate of the city which amounted to $3,747,904 in the year 1922. The benefits derived from a water works plant is nearly as great to the personal property owners as it is to those owning real estate and for this reason they should bear their just portion of the expense of the construction of the plant unless their share should be reflected in increased rents throughout the city.

Method Adopted For Payment of Construction

In the past all improvements of any magnitude including the three paving contracts, the sewer contracts including the 36 in. sewer constructed last fall have been paid for by the issuance of special assessment warrants to the contractors which they have agreed to accept, and have bid on the interest which they would accept on said warrants not exceeding the legal limit of 7 per cent, a new method has been adopted by the city for the payment of the construction or purchase of a municipal water plant, the method adopted is quoted from the advertisement for bids. "Any bonds or special assessment warrants issued in payment for the construction of any part of the water works system will be sold by the board of city commissioners and the contractor paid in cash." This is a radical departure from the old method.

Extensive Improvements on Cathedral Planned

St. Mary's pro-cathedral will be extensively remodeled during the present summer, the work probably to start in July.

Brick veneer on the outside and new decorations on the interior of the church are planned. The brick will be a dark red, with appropriate trimmings. Contract for the work probably will be let soon. The work will cost probably about $7,000.

WHISTLE OF STEAMBOAT IS HEARD AGAIN

The whistle of a steamboat is now heard on the Missouri river again, with the packet Benton hauling coal from Bismarck to Fort Yates for the government Indian agency. About 2,000 tons of coal will be hauled and several trips will be necessary.

The packet Frayne next week will embark on up-river trade hauling grain from Expansion to Washburn. Much grain from McKenzie and Mountrail counties was not hauled out last winter.

The old ferry Marion, which plied between shores at Bismarck and Mandan before the new bridge spanned river was wintered at Rock Haven, the government harbor six miles above the city, and sank there. The boat is being raised.

Washington, May 24.—Indications were given at the treasury today that Secretary Mellon has found a way for reconciling the supreme court's recent prohibition decision with foreign laws requiring ships of their nations to carry liquor as crew rations.

The belief was expressed that the regulations necessary to carry out the high court decision barring liquor within the territorial waters in the United States would be actually promulgated in a few days. Officials refuse to disclose the course which the treasury appears to have adopted in dealing with the situation developing from the court ruling.

POPPY DRIVE MAKES FINE START TODAY

Many Girls and Women on Streets Selling Legion Flower

More than $50 had been taken in this morning at the opening of the poppy drive in Bismarck.

Mrs. Ray Starr, general chairman of the American Legion Auxiliary committee in charge of the drive, directed the opening day's campaign. A group of junior and senior high school girls assisted the women in charge of the work.

Two prizes have been offered to the girls making the largest sales record during the campaign. The first prize will consist of a pair of silk hose, the second will be cash.

Mrs. Starr declared that the people of Bismarck seemed ready to give their bit to make the campaign a success. The poppies on sale, large bouquets, appropriate for use on Decoration day or in vases, and little button-hole poppies, were selling at the same prices as last year, ten cents each.

The girls assisting in the drive this morning were: Clara and Hilda Hultberg, Marie Svendsgaard, Vivian Murphy, Evaline George, Ellen Hall, Lydia Bertsch, Jean Eaton, Clara Sperry, Esther Schultz, Andrea McDonald, Wilma Meyer, Helen Robison, Jessie McDonald, Emma Zorist, Marys Lahry and Louise Keller.

The women in charge of the campaign for the remainder of the drive are Mrs. Hazel Murphy, Friday; Miss Carrie Haugen, Saturday; Mrs. Ferris Cordeur, Monday; and Mrs. E. F. Trepp, Tuesday.

Mrs. Starr declared that the assistance of a large number of girls would be appreciated. She asked that all who could help during one day of the campaign to report to the Legion rooms or call on the telephone.

ONLY ONE BID ON BONDS

Although several bond houses were represented, only one bid was submitted to the state industrial commission this afternoon for real estate bonds offered. Five houses, Stacy, Braun and Co., the Minneapolis Trust Co., Minneapolis Loan and Trust Co., Lane, Piper and Jaffray, and the Wells-Dickey Co., submitted a bid for $1,200,000 of $2,500,000 real estate bonds offered at premium of $124.40, or a net interest rate at par, 4.91-1/2 per cent. No other bids were submitted or $550,000 of mill and elevator operator fund bonds.

The industrial commission took the bids under advisement. Later he was rejected, and new bids will be asked.

Minister Schurmann Points to New Difficulty in Securing Release

MAY NOT BE KILLED

Minister Expresses Belief That Captives May Die Of Starvation

Washington, May 24.—A delayed message from Minister Schurmann in China received by the state department expressed Mr. Schurmann's belief that the task of obtaining release of Americans and other foreign captives taken by bandits was "now complicated by Chinese politics."

The message said it did not "seem probable that the bandits would kill the foreign captives" but that there was danger that during the prolonged negotiations and compromises some of the prisoners might die of exposure, starvation or disease.

TROOPS RETIRE

Tai-tien, China, May 24.—The Chinese government troops which have surrounded the Suchow train bandits and their foreign captives in the mountain stronghold have fallen back a distance of six miles according to advices received today from Linching. The brigands' outpost are following the troops as they retire.

The bandits, apparently puzzled at the recent cessation of negotiations for the release of the foreign prisoners, sent messengers to the relief workers at Linching demanding that newspapers be sent to them. The newspapers were sent but the relief party carefully deleted all matter relating to the kidnapping outrage.

AMERICAN PAROLED

Shanghai, China, May 24.—J. B. Powell, American newspaper publisher of Shanghai, who has been held a prisoner by the Chinese bandits at Pootzu, has been paroled to take part in new conferences for release of the captives, according to advices received here late tonight.

Girl, Fifteen, Is Student at "U"

Grand Forks, N. D., May 24.—Reading Thackeray's Vanity Fair at the age of seven and Dickens's David Copperfield even before that age and several of the works of Ibsen at the age of nine, are some of the things which have brought Miss June Battle at fourteen into prominence as being the youngest student enrolled at the state university.

Miss Battle, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Battle of Omece, now just past her fifteenth birthday anniversary, learned to read at the age of three. She never spent a day in school until she entered high school, but was educated at home by her mother.

Miss June is enrolled in the university in the general liberal arts course. She finished high school in three years, and entered the university with an average of 94 and 95. As yet, she has not decided in what she will major, nor has she decided upon a vocation after she finishes her course.

First Haircut in 57 Years, He'll Get Next One When He's 120

ARCHIBALD SMITH HALL, WITH AND WITHOUT

By NEA Service—Weatherford, Tex., May 24.—If you usually get a haircut every two weeks and happen to miss a day, don't worry. Think of Archibald Smith Hall here.

He waited 57 years. Hall recently celebrated his 92nd birthday by getting a haircut and shaving the first he's had since the close of the Civil War.

Hardly had the boom of the last cannon died away than Hall swore again would he near a barber shop until a Democratic president was chosen who suited him.

Election after election followed. But whenever an incumbent was ushered into the White House, Hall would turn thumbs down.

Until Woodrow Wilson, none passed inspection.

But by that time the veteran's children had become so endeared to their dad's facial adornment that they dissuaded him from keeping his half-century pledge.

A birthday, however, when one gets up in the nineties is an event. So Hall decided there was no better way to celebrate than to renew his acquaintance with clippers and razor.

And what a difference a few hairs make. (Note the accompanying photos for corroboration.)

Should Hall maintain his present ratio, next time he visits the domain of the striped pole will be on his 120th birthday. The third when he's 148 and the fourth trip at 176.

The barber who next shaves him probably isn't born yet. But look at all the money he's saved. And time, too.

He's one of the few who've never had to listen to a barber's jokes, nor insist that he didn't need a shave, a shampoo, a claypuck, a massage, a tonic or his eyebrows pulled.

Distinguished Army Officer Tells How Americans Painted Way During the Boxer Rebellion.

Washington, May 24. Discussions here of the plight of the foreigners held captive in Shantung province have brought to light for the first time an interesting chapter of the Boxer incident in 1900, when the foreign colony in Peking was besieged and threatened with death.

A related today by a distinguished American army officer now retired but at that time occupying a high position in the war department, the story discloses that it was the United States which started the march on Peking for relief of the besieged nationals. In taking the initiative in the international movement of troops this government acted on information which had not yet come into the possession of the other powers.

So unusual was the method by which Washington kept advised of the situation and so great a responsibility descended on the shoulders of those who provided that the details now publicly related for the first time never were made a matter of official record.

The story turns upon the fact that the Chinese minister in Washington in 1900 was Wu Ting Fang, who recently died in the harness as foreign minister for President Sun Yat Sen's cabinet government.

He was a man of singular ability, largely sympathetic with the American viewpoint. One of his closest friends was the famous Chinese tuchun, Yuan Shih Kai, at that time governor of the great province Chihli which includes Peking, and later emperor.

While the legationaries were besieged within the compound in Peking by the boxer forces they were almost completely cut off from communication with their home governments and the outside world. The Chinese government itself dominated by the old empress dowager herself bitterly antiforeign, was known to be sympathetic with the boxer movement, though professing taking no part in it. In consequence, that government gave no assistance to the powers that were making frantic efforts to get in touch with their besieged diplomatic representatives.

It was at this juncture that the friendship between Wu Ting Fang and Yuan Shih Kai became a most valuable asset. A great personal risk, because a discovery of his activities would have cost him his life when he returned to China, Minister Wu induced Yuan Shih Kai by secret means to get into communication with the legationaries. Soon afterward, through this agency, the first news reached Washington that the prisoners had not been killed outright as was at first reported.

FRENCH REFUSE TO INTERFERE IN FIGHTING

Newly Formed Body Arms to Battle Reds Seeking Control of City

Say Rums are Busy—Duesseldorf, May 24.—French official authorities here today declared they have knowledge that Moscow has sent to the Ruhr valley more than 20,000,000 Swiss francs to further the effort to create a Soviet Republic. In addition to thousands of wheat, they declare, have been sent on Moscow initiative to the Ruhr for use of the Communists particularly at Bochum and Dortmund with promises of more if needed.

This declaration was made today in reply to the recent German newspaper charges that the communist trouble was being fostered by the French.

Essen, May 24.—The Communists have taken possession of the police headquarters at Gelsenkirchen and have hoisted the Red Flag over the building.

Reports from German sources say that five persons were killed and 61 wounded in the fighting for the possession of the building. The struggle began late last night and continued until early this morning.

The building said to have been defended by the citizens' defense organization which was finally forced to quit when one wing was set on fire by the attacking mob. The fighting was not restricted to the building but spread through the streets and many street cars were attacked.

Several wounded. A number of non-residents were wounded.

The trouble began to take serious form yesterday afternoon when a communist "commission of control" visited the shops demanding that the price of foodstuffs be cut in half. The housewives of the city hearing that the stores were complying with this demand swooped down on them with market baskets and exhausted the supply in a short time.

Meanwhile the streets began to fill with people and a general scramble ensued. As the security police had been expelled in February and the town was without protection except for a force of firemen which had been doing active patrol duty.

The firemen were called upon to make an effort to disperse the crowd. They were aided by the newly formed civilian self-defense league armed with clubs but not guns.

Firemen Interfere

The interference of the firemen and self-defense league forces seemed only to add fuel to the fire and the crowd began counter-attacking. In one instance the demonstrators attacked a squad of firemen who were occupying a fire truck and wounded several of them.

Additional French troops were ordered into Gelsenkirchen which is in the Essen region, six miles northwest of Bochum but it was unannounced there was no intention by the French to interfere as long as the demonstrations did not clash with the French military. When the French troops appeared they were jeered by the Germans who thought they had come to suppress the demonstration, but the French merely went to their various posts and looked on.

POLITICS IN CHINA HINDER RELIEF WORK

Minister Schurmann Points to New Difficulty in Securing Release

MAY NOT BE KILLED

Minister Expresses Belief That Captives May Die Of Starvation

Washington, May 24.—A delayed message from Minister Schurmann in China received by the state department expressed Mr. Schurmann's belief that the task of obtaining release of Americans and other foreign captives taken by bandits was "now complicated by Chinese politics."

The message said it did not seem probable that the captives would kill the foreign captives but that there was danger that during the prolonged negotiations and compromises some of the prisoners might die of exposure, starvation or disease.

TROOPS RETIRE

Tsientien, China, May 24.—The Chinese government troops which have surrounded the Suichow train bandits and their foreign captives in the mountain stronghold have fallen back a distance of six miles according to advices received today from Lanching. The brigands' outpost are following the troops as they retire.

The bandits, apparently puzzled at the recent cessation of negotiations for the release of the foreign prisoners, sent messengers to the relief workers at Lanching demanding that newspapers be sent to them. The newspapers were sent but the relief party carefully deleted all matter relating to the kidnapping outrage.

AMERICAN PAROLED

Shanghai, China, May 24.—J. B. Powell, American newspaper publisher of Shanghai, who has been held a prisoner by the Chinese bandits at Paotzuku has been paroled to take part in new conferences for the release of the captives, according to advices received here late tonight.

DR. QUAIN IS ELECTED HEAD OF COUNCIL

Is President of Health Agency Created by Last Legislature

Dr. Fannie Dunn Quain of Bismarck was elected president of the Public Health Advisory Council created by the Whitman bill of the 1922 legislature, meeting at the capitol late yesterday for the first time.

Dr. Arne Ottendahl of Fargo was chosen secretary pro tem. Further organization will be completed at a meeting on June 9, when a state public health officer will be selected.

Members of the council are Miss Minnie J. Nielson, ex-officio; Dr. J. Grassick, by virtue of his position as president of the North Dakota Tuberculosis Association, Dr. F. L. Householder of Minot and Dr. Ottendahl.

Under the Whitman bill a state health department is created, and a state health officer is to be named by the Public Health Advisory Council, with offices in the capitol. The new department will succeed the present state board of health on July 1, when appropriations for the new department become available.

Girl, Fifteen, Is Student at "U"

Grand Forks, N. D., May 24.—Reading Thackeray's Vanity Fair at the age of seven and Dickens' David Copperfield even before that age and several of the works of Ibsen at the age of nine, are some of the things which have brought Miss June Batie at fourteen into prominence as being the youngest student enrolled at the state university.

Miss Batie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Batie of Omamee, now just past her fifteenth birthday anniversary, learned to read at the age of three. She never spent a day in school until she entered high school, but was educated at home by her mother.

Miss June is enrolled in the university in the general liberal arts course. She finished high school in three years and entered the university with an average of 94 and 95. As yet, she has not decided in what she will major, nor has she decided upon a vocation after she finishes her course.

First Haircut in 57 Years, He'll Get Next One When He's 120

ARCHIBALD SMITH HALL, WITH AND WITHOUT

By NEA Service

Weatherford, Tex., May 24.—If you usually get a haircut every two weeks and happen to miss a day, don't worry. Think of Archibald Smith Hall here.

He waited 57 years! Hall recently celebrated his 92nd birthday by getting a haircut and shave, the first he's had since the close of the Civil War.

Hardly had the boom of the last cannon died away than Hall swore by the beard he wore that never again would he wear a barber shop until a Democratic president was chosen who suited him.

Election after election followed. But whenever an incumbent was ushered into the White House, Hall would turn thumbs down.

Until Woodrow Wilson, none passed inspection. But by that time the veteran's children had become so endeared to their dad's facial adornment that they dissuaded him from keeping his half-century pledge.

A birthday, however, when one gets up in the nineties is an event. So Hall decided there was no better way to celebrate than to renew his acquaintance with clippers and razor.

And what a difference a few hairs make. (Note the accompanying photos for corroboration.)

Should Hall maintain his present ratio, next time he visits the domain of the striped pole will be on his 120th birthday. The third when he's 148 and the fourth trip at 176.

The barber who next shaves him probably isn't born yet. But look at all the money he's saved. And time, too.

He's one of the few who've never had to listen to a barber's jokes, nor insist that he didn't need a shave, a shampoo, a claypuck, a massage, a tonic or his eyebrows pulled.

Washington, May 24.—Discussions here of the plight of the foreigners help captive in Shantung province have brought to light for the first time an interesting chapter of the latter incident in 1900, when the foreign colony in Peking was besieged and threatened with death.

As related today by a distinguished American army officer now retired but at that time occupying a high position in the war department, the story discloses that it was the United States which started the march on Peking for relief of the besieged nationals. In taking the initiative in the international movement of troops this government acted on information which had not yet come into the possession of the other powers.

So unusual was the method by which Washington kept advised of the situation and so great a responsibility descended on the shoulders of those who provided it that the details now publicly related for the first time never were made a matter of official record.

The story turns upon the fact that the Chinese minister in Washington in 1900 was Wu Tingfang, who recently died in the harness as foreign minister for President Sun Yat Sen's canton government.

He was a man of such high ability, largely sympathetic with the American viewpoint. One of his closest friends was the famous Chinese scholar, Yuan Shih Kai, at that time governor of the great province Chihli which includes Peking, and later emperor.

Legationers Besieged

While the legationers were besieged within the compound in Peking by the boxer forces they were almost completely cut off from communication with their home governments and the outside world. The Chinese government itself dominated by the old empress dowager herself bitterly antiforeign, was known to be sympathetic with the boxer movement, though professing to take no part in it. In consequence, that government gave no assistance to the powers that were making frantic efforts to get in touch with their besieged diplomatic representatives.

It was at this juncture that the friendship between Wu Tingfang and Yuan Shih Kai became a most valuable asset. A great personal risk, because a discovery of his activities would have cost him his life when he returned to China. Minister Wu induced Yuan Shih Kai by secret means to get into communication with the legationers. Soon afterward, through this agency, the first news reached Washington that the prisoners had not been killed outright as was at first reported.

FRENCH REFUSE TO INTERFERE IN FIGHTING

Battles in Street at Gelsenkirchen Result in Many Fatalities, Report

Say Russ are Busy

Duesseldorf, May 24.—French official authorities here today declared they have knowledge that Moscow has sent to the Ruhr valley more than 20,000,000 Swiss francs to further the effort to create a Soviet Republic. In addition two shiploads of wheat, they declare have been sent on Moscow initiative to the Ruhr for use of the Communists particularly at Bochum and Dortmund with promises of more if needed.

This declaration was made today in reply to the recent German newspaper charges that the communists' trouble was being fostered by the French.

Essen, May 24.—The Communists have taken possession of the police headquarters at Gelsenkirchen and have hoisted the Red Flag over the building.

Reports from German sources say that five persons were killed and 61 wounded in the fighting for the possession of the building. The struggle began late last night and continued until early this morning.

The building is said to have been defended by the citizens' defense organization which was finally forced to quit when one wing was set on fire by the attacking mob. The fighting was not restricted to the building but spread through the streets and many street cars were scattered.

Several Non-Residents Wounded

The trouble began to take serious form yesterday afternoon when a communist "commission of control" visited the shops demanding that the price of foodstuffs be cut in half. The housewives of the city hearing that the stores were complying with this demand swooped down on them with market baskets and exhausted the supply in a short time.

Meanwhile the streets began to fill with people and a general scramble ensued. As the security police had been expelled in February and the crowd is without protection except for a force of firemen which had been doing so-called patrol duty.

The firemen were called upon to make an effort to disperse the crowd. They were aided by the newly formed civilian self-defense league armed with clubs but not guns.

Firemen Interfere

The interference of the firemen and self-defense league forces seemed only to add fuel to the fire and the crowd began counter-attacking. In one instance the demonstrators attacked a squad of firemen who were occupying a fire truck and wounded several of them.

Additional French troops were ordered into Gelsenkirchen which is in the Essen region, six miles northwest of Bochum but it was announced there was no intention by the French to interfere as long as the demonstrations did not clash with the French military. When the French troops appeared they were jeered by the Germans who thought they had come to suppress the demonstration, but the French merely went to their various posts and looked on.

Attention: Property Owners of Bismarck

At this season of the year when property owners of the City are painting and decorating their homes, the undersigned feel called upon to warn those contemplating such improvements that there are in the City many persons who are holding themselves out as painters who are not responsible and not qualified to do the work they represent themselves able to do. There are many so called painters soliciting work who are not identified with any Union for the reason that they have not sufficient knowledge of the work or experience to permit them to become members. These persons usually do inferior work and are very apt to use improper or inferior materials.

We believe that the safe practice and more economical method would be to deal only with those who maintain established places in the City and are regular employers of Union painters.

We feel that as a protection to owners of property as well as to bona fide painters and decorators of the City who make their home in the City and make their living painting that all persons contemplating work should deal through the regular employers and painting contractors of the City.

All Union painters carry credentials which identify them as competent and responsible workmen. Demand to see this card and be assured of satisfactory work.

(Signed)

Members of Local Union 1342, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators & Paperhangers of America.

SEIZE WOMAN IN AUTO; ROB AND BEAT HER

Wife of Wealthy Oak Park Attorney Found on Street in Chicago Suburb

Chicago, May 24.—Mrs. F. G. Smith, wife of an Oak Park attorney, was gagged, beaten and robbed of her fur coat and jewelry valued at $60,000 by three men who overpowered her chauffeur and kidnapped her in her own automobile, she told police last night after being found lying on a sidewalk in a suburban district in a hysterical condition.

According to Mrs. Smith's story she was on her way home when three men seized the negro chauffeur, threw him out of the machine and then took her to a lonely spot on the outskirts of the city where they beat her and took her valuables.

SUPREME COURT

FROM MORTON COUNTY
Eugene Weigel, Plaintiff and Respondent vs. Powers Elevator Company, Defendant and Appellant.

1. This case was tried on the theory that the plaintiff had a lien in the nature of a chattel mortgage on the grain alleged to have been converted. This theory will not be departed from in this Court, following the decision of the district court.

2. When property is taken subject to a lien, conversion thereof does not take place until some affirmative act on the part of the defendant, like tortious detention thereof from the owner, or the party entitled to the possession thereof, or an exclusion or defiance of such party's rights, or the withholding of possession under a claim of title inconsistent with that of the plaintiff or owner. Conversion under the facts in this case, and the theory on which it was tried, took place at the time of the demand and refusal.

3. For reasons stated in the opinion, it is held that at the time of the alleged conversion of the grain, there was a grain market, in the legal sense, at Killdeer, North Dakota.

4. While individual sales sometimes are competent evidence of value, they are not competent to establish market value of wheat when there is an established market, like the wheat market in the cities and villages in North Dakota, without showing, by competent evidence, that such individual sales are in fact made at the prevailing market price of wheat at the time and place of the conversion.

5. Where a witness, in testifying upon the question of the market value or the market price of different kinds of grain more than one year before, who has no independent recollection of such market price, has a copy of records kept in the office of the corporation in whose employ as a manager he was at the time such records were made, showing what price it paid for various kinds and grades of grain on the date of the alleged conversion, and when such witness is, after examining such copy, unable to testify that he has any independent recollection of the market price, and his recollection is not, in fact, refreshed by referring to such copy, no evidence being offered to show who made the copy, when it was made, or whether it was correct when made, it is held that the witness is, in fact, testifying from a copy of the records without proper foundation; that the use of the copy as a memorandum for the ostensible purpose of refreshing the recollection of the witness is improper, and the testimony should not have been received over proper objection.

6. It is not required that a memorandum or writing, to be proper for the purpose of refreshing the recollection of a witness, shall have been made by the witness himself, or that it be an original writing, if the witness, after inspecting it, can speak from his own recollection, or otherwise guarantee the accuracy of the record or memorandum used.

7. For reasons stated in the opinion, it is held that the interpretation of the contract, for the sale of the land on which the grain alleged to have been converted was raised, by the trial court, was correct to the effect that it was incumbent upon the vendee thereunder to deliver to the vendor one-half of all the crops annually.

8. Assuming, without deciding, that the colloquy between the Court and counsel for the defendant at the close of the trial was a sufficient request for an instruction, it is held that such request was properly denied because no foundation was laid in the pleadings for evidence of a statutory seed lien which would be entitled to priority over the lien claimed by the plaintiff, following Citizens' National Bank v. Osborne-McMillan Elevator Co., 21 N. D. 335, p. 341; 131 N. W. 266.

Under proper pleadings, evidence of the existence of such a statutory lien would be admissible to reduce damages, and in such a case, proper instructions, with reference thereto, should be given on request.

In District Court, Morton County, Berry, J.

Action to recover the value of grain alleged to have been converted by defendant.

REVERSED.

Opinion of the Court by Johnson, J. Bronson, Ch. J., concurs in result.

S. P. Halpern, Esq., of Hebron, North Dakota, and J. K. Murray, Esq., of Mott, North Dakota, Attorneys for Plaintiff and Respondent.

J. N. McCarter, Esq., of Bismarck, North Dakota, and E. T. Burke, Esq., of Bismarck, North Dakota, Attorneys for Defendant and Appellant.

FROM MORTON COUNTY.

SLOPE COUNTY, a political subdivision of the State of North Dakota, and O. F. Metcalf, auditor of Slope County, North Dakota, Plaintiffs and Appellants, vs. J. S. Douglas and the State Bonding Fund, of the State of North Dakota, Defendants and Appellants.

SYLLABUS:

has been finished. Grain is in excellent condition, but has made little growth due to cool weather. The crop looks good, particularly in the western part of the county. The acreage is below that of last year. Potato planting is well under way, and the bulk of the crop will be in next week if favorable weather prevails. Cool weather has delayed the growth of pastures, alfalfa and sweet clover. A light rain fell Saturday."—E. G. Parizek, Cavalier.

"Seeding of most small grains has been finished and flax seeding and corn planting were general during the week, with a number of farmers' planting potatoes. Increases in the flax, corn and barley acreages are planned. Winter rye is in a spotted condition. Wheat has made a good root growth but has not yet made much growth above the ground due to cold weather. Crops and pastures were helped by the general rain Saturday."—D. B. Morris, Grand Forks, Dickey.

"Small grain seeding is finished and half of the corn is planted. Increased acreages of alfalfa and sweet clover are being sown and a few farmers have started planting potatoes. A heavy rain Saturday benefited pastures which have been retarded by cold weather. There is a shortage of good flint corn seed."—A. A. Penn, Ellendale, Wells.

"A few farmers are still plowing for late barley and flax, but 95 per cent of the grain is in and most of it is up. Corn planting will be general the first of next week. More than one-half inch of rain fell in the county during the week."—E. W. Vancura, Fessenden.

"Small grain seeding is finished with the exception of flax. Corn and potato planting has just started. The crop which is up looks good. Alfalfa and sweet clover are making rapid headway. There was a rain in the southeastern part of the county Friday."—A. M. Chalkey, Devils Lake, Cavalier.

"Early seeded wheat is up and looks very good, but late seeding needs a rain to start the seed. Planting of wheat is finished and oats, barley and flax are now being sown. A few farmers have started planting potatoes and a large acreage of sweet clover will be planted. Cold weather during the week further delayed growth of pastures and hay crops."—W. L. Johns, Langdon, Ward.

"Spring seeded fields are coming slowly due to cold weather but are making a healthy growth. Half of the farmers are through planting wheat and seeding of flax and oats is under way. A few farmers are planting potatoes. Cool, cloudy weather prevails during the week."—John Hushy, Minot, Burke.

"Wheat seeding is finished with the acreage 20 per cent below normal. More wheat was stubbled and disced in than has been the case for years. Farmers are seeding oats and plowing for corn and for a greatly increased acreage of flax. Continued cool weather is delaying pastures and hay crops. A light rain fell Monday."—Karl Swanson, Bowbelle, Golden Valley.

"Wheat seeding is finished and barley, corn and flax are being planted. The wheat acreage has been considerably reduced from that of last year. With the three-fourths inch of rainfall during the week, the soil is in excellent condition. Alfalfa which was pastured late last year, died during the winter, also sweet clover and alfalfa planted with nurse crop. When planted without nurse crops, those have come through in good condition."—J. C. Russell, Beach, Grant.

"Many farmers have finished small grain seeding and a few have planted corn. Cool weather has been favorable for a healthy growth of wheat. A good rain fell Friday night, and there was some rain with a little snow Monday evening. Pastures and meadows are in excellent condition."—R. C. Newcomer, Carson, McHenry.

"Some late durum wheat is still being planted. Early seeded wheat is in excellent condition. Potato planting was general during the week; also planting of corn. Out seeding is general. Flax seeding has just commenced, and indications are that there will be a greatly increased acreage of winter rye is in excellent condition and spring rye is showing up nicely. Sweet clover and alfalfa are in good condition; also native pastures. There will be a large increase in the sweet clover acreage. Cold, rainy weather which prevailed during the week is holding grasshoppers in check."—M. C. Thomas, Towner.

"Wheat seeding is practically finished and planting of oats is general. Flax seeding is just beginning. The stand of winter rye is excellent except in low spots where it has drowned out. Some winter wheat shows a thin stand. Fair weather prevailed during the week but higher temperatures will be needed to hasten pasture growth. Gophers are causing some damage in townships where poisoning campaigns are not being conducted."—C. B. Aamodt, Bottineau, Benson.

"Most of the wheat is up and is in good condition. Other small grain crops are also up. Some flax is being planted. Planting of corn has started and the acreage will be increased. A reduction of 45 per cent in the potato acreage is estimated. Alfalfa and sweet clover are both looking good. Rain Friday night and Saturday freshened up the pastures and benefited the small grains."—Irving Courtice, Minnewaukan, Nelson.

"Seeding of barley and oats has progressed rapidly during the week and planting of flax has started. The flax acreage will be increased. Cool weather has delayed growth of pastures, alfalfa and sweet clover. Alfalfa, winter wheat, and winter rye have been damaged in some places by winter killing and most of the winter wheat was killed out. Some rye planted on fall plowed land has suffered 70 per cent damage from winter killing. A good rain fell Friday night."—Th. T. Kristjanson, Lakota, Pembina.

parture from the custom followed in the past and might be a very important factor in connection with the building of the water plant. The bids will be presented on a cash basis, while the bids for the same construction two years ago were submitted on the proposal of contractor accepting warrants in payment for the system.

Section 3711 of the compiled laws of 1913 hearing on this subject provides:

"Such warrants may be used, in making payments on contracts for making such improvements or may be sold for cash AT NOT LESS THAN THE PAR VALUE THEREOF and the proceeds thereof credited to such fund and used for paying such improvements."

In the case of Currie et al v. Frazier et al, 186 N. W. 244 known as the North Dakota Bank Bond Commission Sale, our Supreme Court has construed that part of the section of our law quoted above. We quote the syllabus of the decision on this point:

"Where a statute authorizes officers of the state to sell certain bonds at not less than par and for cash, they may not contract to sell the bonds at a discount, or to pay a commission to the purchaser which will reduce the amount received for the bonds to less than par."

The statute and decision quoted above compels the city Commissioners to sell the $481,000 or more of special assessment warrants for cash and without discount or commission. The question now arises can it be done? No contract can be entered into under the city proposals unless it can sell the special assessment warrants for cash and at par.

Has the city commission taken this important matter into consideration? And has it arranged with though they were entrenched in great need of help.

A large international army had gathered at Tientsin and daily conferences were in progress there. Some of the commanders were disposed to move slowly, under the belief that a release could be effected without recourse to actual combat. At this juncture came a message from Yuan Shih Kai to Wu in Washington saying that a date very near had been set by the boxer chiefs for a tremendous onslaught upon the legation compound and the massacre of all the legationaries.

McKinley Acts
Wu, in haste, visited the state department and laid the message before Secretary Hay, who in turn carried it immediately to the White House. President McKinley summoned his cabinet in special session and Adjutant General Corbin was called in for advice. Then a cablegram was dispatched to General Chaffee, in command of the American forces at Tientsin, informing him of the whole situation. He was given a perfectly free hand though the issue was actual war. It happened that on that afternoon the allied generals were in conference at Tientsin again debating the course to be pursued. When the cablegram was handed to General Chaffee, he opened and read it, placed it in his pocket, and rising to his feet, said:

"Gentlemen at daylight tomorrow the American forces will move on Peking. I should be very glad to have company—the more the better. But they got at any rate even if alone."

Immediately the British command was on his feet.

"I'm with you," he declared. "The British troops will march with the Americans tomorrow morning."

One by one, though not all enthusiastically, the other commanders agreed, and at daylight began the famous march, headed by a little detachment of American marines. It resulted in the release of the legationaries but a few hours before the time set for their extermination by the Boxers.

Wheat has made a good root growth but has not yet made much growth above the ground due to cold weather. Crops and pastures were helped by the general rain Saturday."—D. B. Morris, Grand Forks, Dickey.

"Small grain seeding is finished and half of the corn is planted. Increased acreages of alfalfa and sweet clover are being sown and a few farmers have started planting potatoes. A heavy rain Saturday benefited pastures which have been retarded by cold weather. There is a shortage of good flint corn seed."—A. A. Penn, Ellendale.

Wells
"A few farmers are still plowing for late barley and flax, but 95 per cent of the grain is in and most of it is up. Corn planting will be general the first of next week. More than one-half inch of rain fell in the county during the week."—E. W. Vancura, Fessenden.

Ramsey
"Small grain seeding is finished with the exception of flax. Corn and potato planting has just started. The crop which is up looks good. Alfalfa and sweet clover are making rapid headway. There was a rain in the southeastern part of the county Friday."—A. M. Challey, Devils Lake.

Cavalier
"Early seeded wheat is up and looks very good, but late seeding needs a rain to start the seed. Planting of wheat is finished and oats, barley and flax are now being sown. A few farmers have started planting potatoes and a large acreage of sweet clover will be planted. Cold weather during the week further delayed growth of pastures and hay crops."—W. L. Johns, Langdon.

Ward
"Spring seeded fields are coming slowly due to cold weather but are making a healthy growth. Half of the farmers are through planting wheat and seeding of flax and oats is under way. A few farmers are planting potatoes. Cool, cloudy weather prevailed during the week."—John Husby, Minot.

Burke
"Wheat seeding is finished with the acreage 20 per cent below normal. More wheat was stubbled and disced in than has been the case for years. Farmers are seeding oats and plowing for corn and for a greatly increased acreage of flax. Continued cool weather is delaying pastures and hay crops. A light rain fell Monday."—Karl Swanson, Bowbells.

Golden Valley
"Wheat seeding is finished and barley, corn and flax are being planted. The wheat acreage has been considerably reduced from that of last year. With the three-fourths inch of rainfall during the week, the soil is in excellent condition. Alfalfa which was pastured late last year, died during the winter also sweet clover and alfalfa planted with nurse crop. When planted without nurse crops, those have come through in good condition."—J. C. Russell, Beach.

Grant
"Many farmers have finished small grain seeding and a few have planted corn. Cool weather has been favorable for a healthy growth of wheat. A good rain fell Friday night and there was some rain with a little snow Monday evening. Pastures and meadows are in excellent condition."—R. C. Newcomer, Carson.

McHenry
"Some late durum wheat is still being planted. Early seeded wheat is in excellent condition and the planting was general during the week; also planting of corn. Oat seeding is general. Flax seeding has just commenced, and indications are that there will be a greatly increased acreage. Winter rye is in excellent condition and spring rye is showing up nicely. Sweet clover and alfalfa are in good condition; also native pastures. There will be a large increase in the sweet clover acreage. Cold, rainy weather which prevailed during the week is holding grasshoppers in check."—M. C. Thomas, Townier.

SUPREME COURT

FROM MORTON COUNTY
Eugene Weigel, Plaintiff and Respondent vs. Powers Elevator Company, Defendant and Appellant.
SYLLABUS:
1. This case was tried on the theory that the plaintiff had a lien on the grain alleged to have been converted. This theory will not be departed from in this court, following the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Ugland Farmers' & Mer. State Bank, N. D. 536; 137 N. W. 572.

2. When property is taken subject to a lien a conversion thereof does not take place until some affirmative act on the part of the defendant, like tortious detention thereof from the owner, or the party entitled to the possession thereof, or an exclusion or defiance of such party's rights, or the withholding of possession under a claim of title inconsistent with that of the plaintiff or owner. Conversion under the facts in this case, and the theory on which it was tried, took place at the time of the demand and refusal.
3. For reasons stated in the opinion, it is held that at the time of the alleged conversion of the grain, there was a grain market, in the legal sense, at Killdeer, North Dakota.

4. While individual sales sometimes are not competent to establish market value of wheat when there is an established market, like the wheat market in the cities and villages in North Dakota, without showing, by competent evidence, that such individual sales are in fact made at the prevailing market price of wheat at the time and place of the conversion.
5. Where a witness, in testifying upon the question of the market value or the market price of different kinds of grain more than one year before, who has no independent recollection of such market price, has a copy of records kept in the office of the corporation in whose employ as a manager he was at the time such records were made, showing what price it paid for various kinds and grades of grain on the date of the alleged conversion, and when such witness is, after examining such copy, unable to testify that he has any independent recollection of the market price, and his recollection is not, in fact, refreshed by referring to such copy, no evidence being offered to show who made the copy, when it was made, or whether it was correct when made, it is held that the witness is, in fact, testifying from a copy of the records without proper foundation; that the use of the copy as a memorandum for the ostensible purpose of refreshing the recollection of the witness is improper, and the testimony should not have been received over proper objection.

6. It is not required that a memorandum or writing, to be proper for the purpose of refreshing the recollection of a witness, shall have been made by the witness himself, or that it be an original writing, if the witness, after inspecting it, can speak from his own recollection, or otherwise guarantee the accuracy of the record or memorandum used.
7. For reasons stated in the opinion, it is held that the interpretation of the contract, for the sale of the land on which the grain alleged to have been converted was made by the trial court, was correct, to the effect that it was incumbent upon the vendee thereunder to deliver to the vendor one-half of all the crops annually.
8. Assuming, without deciding, that the colloquy between the Court and counsel for the defendant at the close of the trial was a sufficient request for an instruction, it is held that such request was properly denied because no foundation was laid in the pleadings for evidence of a statutory seed lien which would be entitled to reduce damages, and in such a case, proper instructions, with reference thereto, should be given on request.
In District Court, Morton County, Berry, J.
Action to recover the value of grain alleged to have been converted by defendant.
REVERSED.

Opinion of the Court by Johnson, J. Bronson, Ch. J., concurs in result.
S. P. Halpern, Esq., of Hebron, North Dakota, and J. K. Murray, Esq., of Mott, North Dakota, Attorneys for Plaintiff and Respondent.

FROM MORTON COUNTY.
SLOPE COUNTY, a political subdivision of the State of North Dakota, and O. F. Metcalf, auditor of Slope County, North Dakota, Plaintiffs and Appellants, vs. J. S. Douglas and the State Bonding Fund, of the State of North Dakota, Defendants and Appellants.
SYLLABUS:
(1) Chapter 56 of the Session Laws of 1921, providing for legal depositaries of public funds, is construed and held to require the deposit of all funds in the custody of the various treasurers of municipal corporations in public depositaries qualifying under the act.
(2) Where, at the time of the taking effect of the depository law (Chapter 56, Laws of 1921), public funds were on demand deposit in banks which did not meet the requirements of the law, and where the deposit was allowed to remain in the non-complying banks, until they failed three months afterward, the treasurer and his bondsmen are liable for the loss sustained.
(3) The evidence is examined and held to show that there was no settlement had between the county treasurer and his successor in office on the basis of the unauthorized deposits being accepted as cash.
Appeal from the District Court of Morton County, Hon. Thomas H. Fugh, Judge.
Judgment modified and affirmed.
Opinion of the Court by Birdzell, J. Johnson, J., being disqualified, did not participate; Coffey, District Judge, sitting.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

LITTLE EVA

Cordelia Howard, the original little Eva who played in the first stage performance of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," is discovered still living, in Cambridge, Mass.

She is 75 years old now, but to her it probably "seems but yesterday" since, as a charming little girl of four, she tripped before the footlights and frolicked with the original Uncle Tom.

She was hand-billed by a wise old-time trouper as "The Youthful Wonder—Little Cordelia Howard—generally called the Child of Nature."

Her part, as Eva, was made the star because the man who dramatized Harriet Beecher Stowe's famous book was her father, who conducted a dime museum in Troy, N. Y. The first performance of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was in that city Sept. 27, 1852.

Troy at that time had only 30,000 people, but "Uncle Tom's Cabin" ran for 100 nights straight. No other play ever written could duplicate that record in a town of the same size.

From Troy the show jumped to New York City, where it ran 325 performances before going on the road.

Seventy-one years have passed, but at least a dozen "Tom shows" still are traveling about the country and doing good business—sometimes "hanging 'em on the chandeliers." Twelve, mind you, not counting wagon shows.

What play written and produced within the last 10 years will have one company playing it, let alone 12, when 71 years have passed?

Although crudely written and ridiculous in spots, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" stands out as the most powerful play ever written in America. It was propaganda that fed the flames that precipitated the Civil War. It stirred and aroused the passions of more millions of people than any other three things ever penned by Americans. Its power was in its book form. Literary tastes and sense of humor have changed since then, and the book has been eclipsed by the dramatized version.

As a literary curiosity, there is nothing in existence that compares with "Uncle Tom's Cabin." It is an uncut diamond, a roughly fashioned masterpiece of dramatic art—in short, the Perfect Day, as far as arousing the populace to fever heat and making them plank down their shekels at the box-office.

We brave the critics to call it the Great American Play.

GERMS

One out of every seven hogs slaughtered under federal inspection in 1922 had tuberculosis lesions—diseased parts, usually in the head and neck. The inspectors examined 39,416,439 hogs during the year and found 5,640,061 of them had "t. b."

You needn't be alarmed. The dangerous cases were condemned, two million dollars worth of pork destroyed. The housewife, however, will realize the necessity of cooking pork thoroughly to destroy all disease germs. Heat is the surest germ killer.

"OVERHEAD"

The French government built 3300 military airplanes in 1922, England only 200. The English, however, are not as fearful of being bombed from the air by French raiders as some of us are apt to gather from our fragmentary reading of European news.

What worries them most is voiced in the House of Lords by Lord Birkenhead. He is alarmed chiefly at France "expanding large sums on these enormous armaments while owing us immense sums which there is no prospect of our receiving either at present or in the near future."

SWEET

On a farm near Brattleboro is a tree from which white men tapped their first Vermont maple sugar. That was in 1764. This old tree, still as erect as a steel spike, should have a monument when it dies. It started a big industry. Some 35 million pounds of maple sugar are produced each year in America, a third of it in Vermont.

What wonderful friends and benefactors the trees have been to us! Yet we continue destroying our forests—killing the goose that lays the golden eggs. Forest preservation is the greatest problem of our many national resources.

SILKEN

Costs a lot of money to keep the girls in silk stockings and allied accoutrement. Last year, says a government report, our country imported nearly 366 million dollars worth of raw silk, or four and a half times as much as in 1913. However, for our money we got less than twice as much silk (in tons) from abroad in 1922 as in 1913. Which shows how the price hoax can fool us on foreign trade, coming in or going out. Also how prices have gone up.

HENPECKED

A village where the women rule the men is discovered in South American jungles by Dr. Alexander Hamilton Rice, Boston globe-trotter and explorer. Modern Amazons.

Rice says the women do all the bossing, order the men to bring firewood, clean the primitive cooking utensils, and so on. If the men object, they are rapped over the head with a club carried by the vixen who is chief of the whole outfit! Many a henpecked husband has dreamed of such a place.

DIVORCE EVIL

The English are alarmed because they have 3464 suits for divorce filed in one year. Shucks! Here in America we have that many divorces every 11 days, and our population is less than three times as many as England's. Every time there are nine marriages in our country there's one divorce—about a million marriages and over 112,000 divorces a year.

RELIGIOUS PERSECUTION

Whether Patriarch Tikhon of the orthodox church in Russia has really meddled in politics and worked illegitimately against the Soviet Government is not clear. Naturally he is opposed to Sovietism, but he would not have been expected to take sides on such an issue. His domain is purely spiritual. He may have been guilty of a lack of tact, rubbing the Soviet officials the wrong way instead of trying to get along with them for the sake of continuing his clerical work unhindered. But, factually, there is not a crime in any country. And there is nothing in the accusations brought against him publicly by the Soviet representatives to indicate criminality. Their talk is big, but their testimony is childish.

The conclusion seems inescapable that the Soviet government has determined to do away with Tikhon as it did with Butchkevitch, the Roman Catholic prelate, because he wants to crush out organized religion in Russia. It seems, at bottom, a strange jealousy of all authority, even in spiritual matters, except that of the Soviet itself.

This is nothing less than, than religious persecution, of which history is full of examples. And Lenin, Trotzky et al. should learn from those examples, unless they think that "history is bunk." Martyrs have always been the seed of the church, and religious persecution has always strengthened the cause of the persecuted sect. —Minot Daily News.

IGNORANCE OF THE BIBLE

Many a college student today, I feel sure, would find it difficult to find anything funny in Tom Sawyer's predicament when before the assembled Sunday school he was asked to name the first two disciples, and answered David and Goliath. When Mark Twain wrote his earlier books, Hebrew kings and prophets, Christian apostles and martyrs were familiar acquaintances of elementary school children. Many of our recent college graduates know a little of them as they do the Greek mythology. Not long ago one of the students in the course of history of religions which I have mentioned informed me (on paper) that the ancient Hebrews were fairly moral considering their times, "though of course they did not have our Ten Commandments." —Vale Review.

FROM HARDINGS PAPER

We note that a well-known magazine says that the farmers of the land want Henry Ford to have Muscle Shoals, but as the same magazine has been boasting Mr. Ford in every one of its issues for months, we have a suspicion that Henry has been blowing in some more money for "literatur" in the hope of advancing certain political aspirations. —The Star, Marion, O.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

Down the magic steps into Raggy Land went Mister Tatters, followed by Nancy and Nick, whose magic names have made them as small as the fairies themselves. All the other Raggies came trooping after, a funny looking crowd in their queer coats and ends of clothes.

But then what was the use of them dressing up when they had so much scrubbing to do for everybody? When they were all inside, Raggy Tag carefully closed the trap door overhead, shutting out all daylight.

But instantly a soft light penetrated the darkness, for a million glow-worms turned on their lamps. When they were all inside, Raggy Tag carefully closed the trap door overhead, shutting out all daylight.

"Make yourselves quite at home, my dears," said Mister Tatters. "You may stay as long as you wish as long as you are careful not to rub the magic smudges of your noses."

The trouble is that you may get caught in a storm and if you are not extra careful, the rain will wash them off—the smudges, I mean—not your noses."

"Rain?" exclaimed Nancy and Nick together. "Down here under the ground?"

"Of course," smiled Mister Tatters. "The ground is as porous as a sieve and the rain drops right through. There! I feel a drop right now. I'll run and get you each a good-sized umbrella."

Away he went, returning quickly with an umbrella in each hand. "Here you are," he said.

"It's queer!" said Nick. "When we were outdoors the sun was shining. Mister Tatters smiled again. "Well, this is not rainy rain. It's sprinkly rain out of Farmer Brown's watering bucket. This part of Raggy Land is right under his sassa patch garden and he is now watering his lettuce bed and onion bed and all his other beds."

Nancy laughed. "Isn't it funny, calling garden beds and patches. They must be beds under patch-work quilts."

"That's right," nodded the little fairy man. "But here we are talking when there's a whole carload of work to be done."

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESSTON TO HER FRIEND, BEATRICE GRIMSHAW.

MY DEAR BEE:

You never ever get married until you have a little income of your own. Of course I presume that it comes harder for me than for most girls to be dependent, for dad was so lovely that I never had to ask him for anything.

I had a generous allowance and, besides that, a credit account at all the stores. I think that child sister of mine is right when she said I should never have married a poor man, although how she came to have the prescience of this I do not know.

Naturally when I went to furnish my house, I spent every cent that mother had given me for all the beautiful things I thought I needed. It never entered my mind that more money would not be forthcoming from Jack for my personal expenses.

Bee, I have been married for a long while, as you know, and Jack has never given me a cent. He seems to think if he pays the grocery bills and bills from other stores where we have credit, that I do not need money.

I expect I ought to ask him for a personal allowance, but somehow I cannot bring myself to do it. Of course, never having been married before, I expect Jack just does not realize that I need a little money for my own personal expenses.

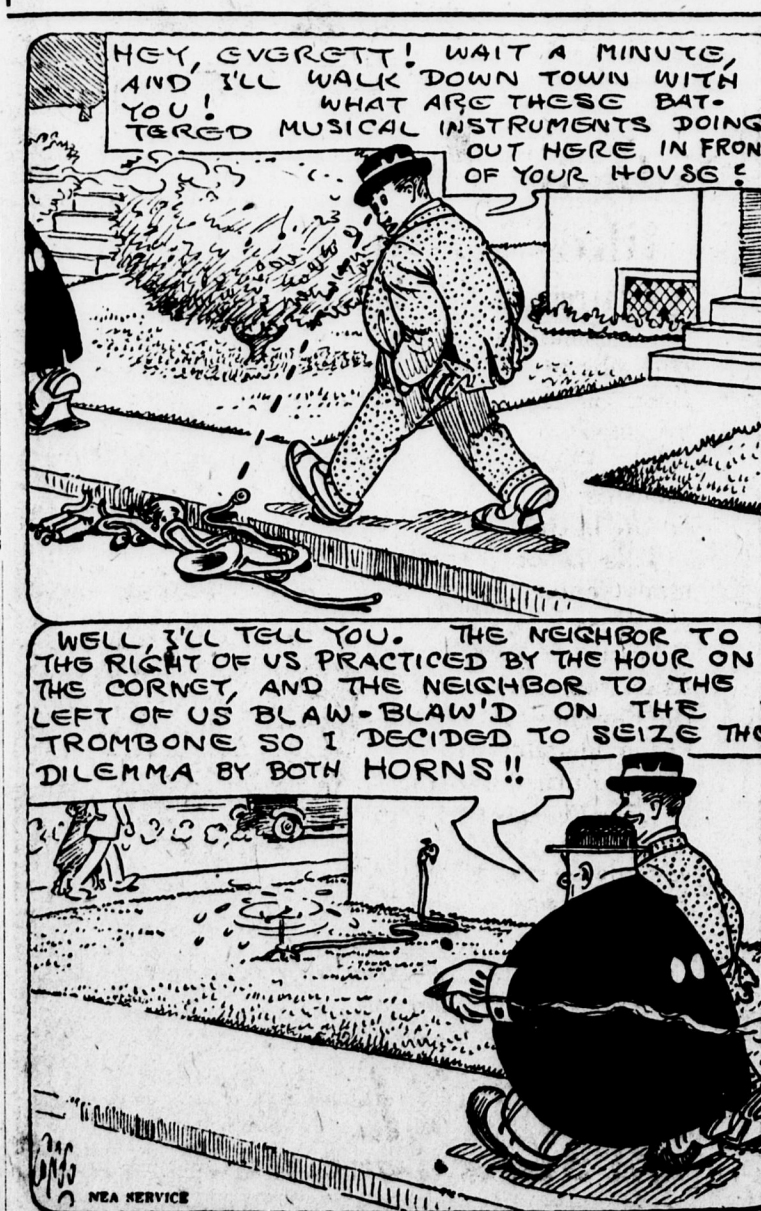

Yesterday I invited some girl friends to a luncheon at the downtown hotel where we lived until the apartment was ready and where, of course, my credit was good. I would have liked to have taken them to a

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Calvin Gray arrives at Dallas and rents the most expensive suite in the most exclusive hotel. Because he is financially broke, Gray accepts a commission from a friend who is vice president of the largest jewelry house in Dallas. He goes to Ranger and sells valuable diamonds to Gus Briskow who has struck oil. Gray meets Ma Briskow, Allegheny daughter, and Ozark, the son. Gray falls in love with Barbara Parker, who buys land for Henry Nelson. He calls at Nelson's office and warns him that he means to smash him financially. Nelson denies Gray.

CHAPTER XII
Four Against One
If Gray cherished any lingering doubts as to the loyalty of Mallow, erstwhile victim of his ruthlessness, or of McWade and Stoner, the wildcat promoters, those doubts vanished during the next day or two. As a matter of fact, the readiness, nay, the enthusiasm with which they fell in with his schemes convinced him that he had acted wisely in yielding to an impulse to trust them.

At their first council of war Gray gave each of them a number of definite things to do, or to have done, the while he sought certain facts; when they assembled for a second time, it was to compare, to tabulate, and to requisition an amount of information concerning the activities of Henry Nelson that would have greatly surprised that gentleman had he been present to hear it.

For some time longer the conspirators busied themselves over the details of their plans, and Gray was beginning to feel some satisfaction at his rate of progress when an interruption took the form of a call from a group of highly excited and indignant purchasers of stock in the Desert Scorpion Company that promotion in which Professor Mallow had assisted on the morning of Gray's arrival.

They had been sold, victimized, flimflammed, skinned; the scorpion had stung them and the poison was boiling in their veins. Briefly, the swindle was this: investigation had shown that the land owned by the Desert Scorpion was not where it had been represented to be, but more than a mile distant therefrom. Chance alone had brought forth the truth; the hour of vengeance had struck.

Calvin Gray withdrew quietly from the hubbub and asked Mallow, "Can that be true?"

The eminent scientist shrugged; out of the corner of his mouth he murmured: "Why not? It all looks alike."

McWade and Stoner were not in the least dismayed by this amazing intelligence, as a matter of fact the former assumed an air of even greater geniality than usual and nodded a careless agreement to every accusation hurled against him.

"Right you are, men! Absolutely right. We were victimized, but we're tickled to death to rectify the error. Mighty fortunate mistake, as a matter of fact. Brick, out with the old check book and give these birds back their money." With security Mr. Stoner cleared off his desk and seated himself, pen in hand.

"Step up and get a dollar a share—just what you paid. Fair enough, I call it. The banks are open and the checks are good."

Immediately the repurchase of stock began, but anger and suspicion still smoldered; there were dissatisfied mutterings. One investor a field man in greasy overalls, spoke out:

"We'll get ours all right. Don't worry. But how about the other suckers? There's fifty thousand shares out. What are you going to do about that?"

"We'll pay a dollar and a half a share for all you can get, tomorrow."

There was a stir among the indignant speculators; the man for whom Stoner was writing a check inquired: "What's the idea? Why not a dollar and a half now?"

Stoner and McWade exchanged a meaning glance—it was not lost upon their attentive audience—but the latter shrugged and smiled provocatively. "That's our business," he declared, lightly. "You ghost dancers want your money back and we're giving it to you. You're letting up a holler that we've robbed, so come and get it. The faster you come the better it'll suit us. Scorpion stock will close at a dollar and a half or better tomorrow night."

"Bluff!" somebody glowed.

Stoner finished his signature with a flourish, blotted it, then he hesitated. He flung down his pen and turned defiantly upon his partner crying:

"This ain't fair to these men, Mac. They're customers of ours and we owe 'em the chance to make a killing. It's up to us to tell 'em the truth."

McWade was angry. His indignation flamed. Vigorously he denied the charge of unfairness. A spirited argument ensued.

Legion Makes Plans For Memorial Day Program at Banquet

The "pot luck" supper given last night by the Legion Auxiliary proved an exceptionally enjoyable occasion. There were a hundred Legionnaires and Auxiliary ladies participating in the supper which was served in the Legion hall. The service was from mess tables in army fashion. Following the dinner Commander of the Legion introduced G. H. Russ, Jr., who explained details of plans for the observance of Memorial Day and impressed upon his hearers the solemnity and duty of paying tribute to the memory of the war dead on that day. Commissioner of Agriculture J. A. Kitchen spoke against tendency to commercialize Memorial Day, and generally on the duties of the Legion. Following a song fest, during which the new Legion song was sung, the auxiliary and Legion held separate business meetings, and a dance followed.

It was reported at the Legion meeting that all patriotic and fraternal organizations have been invited to participate in the Memorial Day parade, at 2:15 P. M., and general arrangements for the patriotic parade and memorial exercises at the Auditorium following the parade were stated. Business in the city will be suspended during the exercises. The Legion was told plans for raising a fund for the national graves' fund to make possible the removal of graves of American soldiers in France each year, were made. The suggestion was advanced that a Legion-Auxiliary picnic be held during the summer.

Recital Proves Big Success

The recital given at Trinity Lutheran church last night by pupils of Mr. J. Olive Heurl was a decided success, in spite of the rather small attendance. The small but appreciative audience was treated to a program that was pleasing in every detail. While some of the pupils are very young and have been studying for only a short time they showed a careful training and executed both taste and technique. Some of the children presented some very good numbers. They seemed to have overcome in a marked degree the mechanical stiffness so often found in pupils at that age. They gave life and expression in their presentation, in many cases far beyond expectations. Gwennie Pilmor, Theo. Vetter, Dorothy Ormiston, Helen Robbins and Irene Pilmor deserve particular mention. Miss Isabelle Cochran gave two readings in her own good happy manner and brought new diversion into the musical program. Mrs. Heurl is entitled to much credit for her good work.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF BISMARCK ARRIVED HERE 50 YEARS AGO IN LUMBER WAGON DRAWN BY MULES

Mrs. John P. Dunn Has Seen Bismarck Rise from Mere Point on the Frontier to a Bustling and Modern City.

Fifty years ago yesterday Mrs. John P. Dunn, a bride of ten days, arrived in Bismarck in a lumber wagon drawn by a team of mules. Awaiting her upon her arrival was a home of cottonwood logs located where the city auditorium now stands, and dinner at Johnnie Yegens' Bake Shop and lunch room, near the present site of the McKenzie hotel.

Mrs. Dunn had become the bride of Dr. John Platt Dunn at Minneapolis, Minn., May 13, 1873, departing immediately with her husband for the wilds of North Dakota where Dr. Dunn had established the first drug store in the city of Bismarck, then a town of forty-seven log houses or tents and about four hundred people.

Her honeymoon trip began in a passenger coach on the Northern Pacific railroad but at the end of the first day she and Dr. Dunn had only reached Brainerd, Minn. where they spent the first night. The second day's trip to Fargo was also made in a passenger coach of less convenient equipment. Here Dr. and Mrs. Dunn spent a week waiting for some means of transportation to their destination. They finally obtained accommodation in the caboose of a work train at the Northern Pacific in company with another group of men enroute to Bismarck, who have become known as the pioneer settlers of Bismarck. Among them were John Whalen, John Jackson who was engaged in government work, John Mason proprietor fine tent saloon opposite the present site of the McKenzie hotel, William Nichols agent in the Northern Pacific express office which was soon to be established, Jim Marshall, owner of the first bar shop in Bismarck and J. W. Raymond, one of the first bankers.

At the end of this day's travel they arrived in Jamestown. No hotels being on hand, they were fortunate in finding that Mr. Nichols owned a big general merchandise store in which he offered them the conveniences of bedding for the night. They dined with the railroad workmen.

The next lap of their journey was made by box car to Crystal Springs or what is now known as Driscoll. Mrs. Dunn enjoyed the conveniences of a chair with which she was presented by Mr. Nichols.

For the men the journey was a delightful hunting trip. When the train stopped to distribute freight and other material used in the country some of the men shot out some game as they strolled away up on the arrival of the train, and ducks. The season was rainy and wild game appeared to be abundant, said Mrs. Dunn.

"After the men had been roasted over big open fires, I never tasted such delicious food," asserted Mrs. Dunn. "Of course our compartment was not quite like the modern ones," she continued "for I slept in one end of the box car with my shawl serving as a curtain before my sleeping chamber, while the men occupied the other end of the car. After a long journey the passengers on the work train finally arrived at Crystal Lake or Driscoll where a wagon drawn by a team of mules was ready to bring Dr. and Mrs. Dunn and their trunk to Bismarck.

Mrs. Dunn who was a very youthful bride lived in her cottonwood log house which expanded and twisted and changed its appearance every time it rained for some time after her arrival. She was one of the ardent tourists in the city in that she had carpets to cover the cottonwood-log floor. Many of the pioneer women lived in houses with dirt floors. Bismarck has been called by writers of the early day a "village of tents."

The Dunn drug store was located on the west lot of the place now occupied by the McKenzie hotel with a billiard hall and saloons as neighbors. It was not until many years after this that plastering of buildings and houses took place.

On Mother's Day Sunday, May 13, Mrs. Dunn celebrated the twentieth anniversary of her marriage and yesterday she celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of her arrival in Bismarck, one of the first of the pioneer women of the city. During the years of her residence here she has been one of the active and progressive women who have done so much to develop the capital city.

Mr. Oscar Ward will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of his arrival in Bismarck, June 1.

It is thought that Mrs. Dunn and Mr. Ward are the only two women now in Bismarck who came here in the spring of 1873.

Nobody likes burnt biscuits

WHEN you bake bread, pies, muffins, or biscuits in the oven of the Florence Oil Cook Stove, there is no danger of burning them on the bottom before the tops have browned.

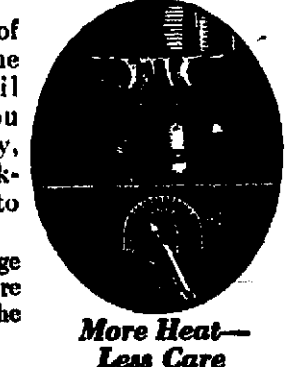

The Florence Oven heat distributor, with asbestos lining, prevents food from burning on the bottom.

This is only one of many refinements in the wickless Florence Oil Range. Whether you bake, roast, boil or fry, the Florence makes cooking a delight. Easy to clean. Burns kerosene.

Test a Florence Oil Range for yourself at any furniture or hardware store where the Florence is sold.

Legion Makes Plans For Memorial Day Program at Banquet

The "pot luck" supper given last night by the Legion Auxiliary proved an exceptionally enjoyable occasion. There were a hundred Legion men and Auxiliary ladies participating at the supper, which was served in the Legion hall. The service was from music tables in army fashion. Following the dinner Commander G. H. Russ, Jr., who explained details of plans for the observance of Memorial Day and impressed upon his hearers the solemnity and duty of paying tribute to the memory of the war dead on that day. Commissioner of Agriculture J. A. Kitchen spoke against tendency to commercialize Memorial Day, and generally on the aims of the Legion. Following a concert, during which the new American Legion song was sung, the auxiliary and Legion held separate business meetings, and a dance followed.

It was reported at the Legion meeting that all patriotic and fraternal organizations had been invited to participate in the Memorial Day parade, at 2:15 P. M., and general arrangements for the patriotic movement and memorial exercises at the Auditorium following the parade were stated. Business in the city will be suspended during the exercises, the Legion was told. Plans for raising a fund for the national Graves Endowment fund, a permanent fund to make possible the decoration of graves of American soldiers in France each year, were made. The suggestion was advanced that a Legion Auxiliary picnic be held during the summer.

Recital Proves Big Success

The recital given at Trinity Lutheran church last night by pupils of Mrs. J. Olive Heurl was a decided success, in spite of the rather small attendance. The small but appreciative audience was treated to a program that was pleasing in every detail. While some of the pupils are very young and have been studying for only a short time they showed a careful training and evinced both taste and technique. Some of the pupils presented some very good numbers. They seemed to have overcome in a marked degree the mechanical stiffness so often found in pupils at that age. They gave life and expression in their presentation, in many cases far beyond expectations. Gwennie Pilmoor, Theo. Vetter, Dorothy Ormiston, Helen Robbins and Irene Pilmoor deserve particular mention. Miss Isabelle Cochran gave two readings in her own good happy manner and brought fine diversion into the musical program. Mrs. Heurl is entitled to much credit for her good work.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF BISMARCK ARRIVED HERE 50 YEARS AGO IN LUMBER WAGON DRAWN BY MULES

Mrs. John P. Dunn Has Seen Bismarck Rise from Mere Point on the Frontier to a Bustling and Modern City.

Fifty years ago yesterday Mrs. John P. Dunn, a bride of ten days arrived in Bismarck in a lumber wagon drawn by a team of mules. Awaiting her upon her arrival was a home of cottonwood logs located where the city auditorium now stands, and dinner at Johnnie Yeg-gers' Bake Shop and lunch room, near the present site of the McKenzie hotel.

Mrs. Dunn had become the bride of Dr. John Platt Dunn at Minneapolis, Minn., May 13, 1873, departing immediately with her husband for the wilds of North Dakota where Dr. Dunn had established the first drug store in the city of Bismarck, then a town of forty-seven log houses or tents and about four blocks of tent or log business houses.

Her honeymoon trip began in a passenger coach on the Northern Pacific railroad but at the end of the first day she and Dr. Dunn had only reached Brainerd, Minn. where they spent the first night. The second day's trip to Fargo was also made in a passenger coach of less convenient equipment. Here Dr. and Mrs. Dunn spent a week waiting for some means of transportation to their destination. They finally obtained accommodation in the caboose of a work train at the Northern Pacific in company with another group of men enroute to Bismarck who have become known as the pioneer settlers of Bismarck. Among them were John Whalen, John Jackman who was engaged in government work, John Mason proprietor fine tent saloon opposite the present site of the McKenzie hotel, William Nichols agent in the Northern Pacific express office which was soon to be established, Jim Marshall, owner of the first shoe shop in Bismarck and J. W. Raymond, one of the first bankers.

At the end of this day's travel they arrived by Jamestown, N. D. hotels being on hand, they were fortunate in finding that Mr. Nichols owned a big general merchandise store in which he offered them the conveniences of bedding for the night. They dined with the railroad workmen.

The next part of their journey was made by box car to Crystal Springs or what is now known as Driscoll. Mrs. Dunn enjoyed the conveniences of a chair with which she was presented by Mr. Nichols.

For the next the journey was a delightful hunting trip. When the train stopped to distribute tithes, tails and other material used in the construction of the road they shot antelope as they scurried away upon the arrival of the train, and ducks. The season was rainy and wild game appeared to be abundant, said Mrs. Dunn.

"After the meat had been roasted over big even fires, I never tasted such delicious food" asserted Mrs. Dunn. "Of course our compliments were not quite like the modern ones," she continued "for I slept in one end of the box car with my shawl serving as a curtain before my sleeping chamber, while the men occupied the other end of the car."

After a long journey the passengers on the work train finally arrived at Crystal Lake or Driscoll where a wagon drawn by a team of mules was ready to bring Dr. and Mrs. Dunn and their trunks to Bismarck.

Mrs. Dunn who was a very youthful bride lived in her cottonwood log house which expanded and twisted and changed its appearance every time it rained for some time after her arrival. She was one of the aristocrats in the city in that she had carpets to cover the cottonwood-log floor. Many of the pioneer women lived in houses with oiled dirt floors. Bismarck has been called by writers of the early day a "village of tents."

The Dunn Drug store was located on the west lot of the place now occupied by the McKenzie hotel with billiard hall and saloons as neighbors. It was not until many years after this that plastering of buildings and houses took place.

On Mother's Day Sunday May 13, Mrs. Dunn celebrated the twentieth anniversary of her marriage and yesterday she celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of her arrival in Bismarck, one of the first of the pioneer women of the city. During the years of her residence here she has been one of the active and progressive women who have done so much to develop the capital city.

Mr. Oscar Ward will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of his arrival in Bismarck, June 1.

It is thought that Mrs. Dunn and Mr. Ward are the only two women now in Bismarck who came here in the spring of 1873.

Music in Schools Is Valuable

School training in music develops: Perception, concentration, judgment, memory, artistic sense, perserverance, imagination, co-operation.

A Good Speaking Voice

"After the beginning of reading, writing, arithmetic, grammar and geography, music is of greater educational value than any other subject taught in schools."

The past six weeks our boys and girls in the lower grades have been learning Spring time songs, including Rain, Flower and Bird songs. These songs were especially used during "Nature week."

Beside their singing period the past school months, the Junior high pupils, have had several hours of studying, hearing and seeing the different instruments of the orchestra, which will be of great benefit to them this coming school year, through the juvenile band and orchestra.

The operetta, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," for the convenience of moving from room to room. We wish to extend our thanks to Mrs. E. Lahr Whitson and her pupils for the silver offering collected at their recitals, which was donated to Junior Piano Fund.

One thing, in particular, has attracted widespread attention in connection with this picture, and that is a vivid and exciting forest fire, which is said to surpass anything of the kind ever before presented in motion pictures. In order to reproduce it for screen purposes, a tract of timber was ignited and twenty cameras photographed it from many angles. It is through this raging blaze that Anna Q. Nilsson runs a locomotive; and in staging this realistic episode the celebrated screen actress was painfully burned. Her injuries kept her confined in a hospital for several weeks.

The forest fire is one of several big scenes in the picture. There is, in addition, the blowing up of a dam, done to release thousands of logs which lay stranded and impounded. Another big scene is the dynamiting of a hillside, necessary to prevent the spread of the forest fire.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

LITTLE EVA

Cordelia Howard, the original Little Eva who played in the first stage performance of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," is discovered still living, in Cambridge, Mass.

She is 75 years old now, but to her it probably "seems but yesterday" since, as a charming little girl of four, she tripped before the footlights and frolicked with the original Uncle Tom.

She was hand-billed by a wise old-time trouper as "The Youthful Wonder—Little Cordelia Howard—generally called the Child of Nature."

Her part, as Eva, was made the star because the man who dramatized Harriet Beecher Stowe's famous book was her father, who conducted a dime museum in Troy, N. Y. The first performance of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was in that city Sept. 27, 1852.

Troy at that time had only 30,000 people, but "Uncle Tom's Cabin" ran for 100 nights straight. No other play ever written could duplicate that record in a town of the same size.

From Troy the show jumped to New York City, where it ran 325 performances before going on the road.

Seventy-one years have passed, but at least a dozen "Tom shows" still are traveling about the country and doing good business—sometimes "hanging 'em on the chandeliers." Twelve, mind you, not counting wagon shows.

What play written and produced within the last 10 years will have one company playing it, let alone 12, when 71 years have passed?

Although crudely written and ridiculous in spots, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" stands out as the most powerful play ever written in America. It was propaganda that fed the flames that precipitated the Civil War. It stirred and aroused the passions of more millions of people than any other three things ever penned by Americans. Its power was in its book form. Literary tastes and sense of humor have changed since then, and the book has been eclipsed by the dramatized version.

As a literary curiosity, there is nothing in existence that compares with "Uncle Tom's Cabin." It is an uncut diamond, a roughly fashioned masterpiece of dramatic art—in short, the Perfect Day, as far as arousing the populace to fever heat and making them plank down their shekels at the box-office.

We brave the critics to call it the Great American Play.

GERMS

One out of every seven hogs slaughtered under federal inspection in 1922 had tuberculosis lesions—diseased parts, usually in the head and neck. The inspectors examined 39,416,439 hogs during the year and found 5,640,061 of them had "t. b."

You needn't be alarmed. The dangerous cases were condemned, two million dollars worth of pork destroyed. The housewife, however, will realize the necessity of cooking pork thoroughly to destroy all disease germs. Heat is the surest germ killer.

"OVERHEAD"

The French government built 3300 military airplanes in 1922, England only 200. The English, however, are not as fearful of being bombed from the air by French raiders as some of us are apt to gather from our fragmentary reading of European news.

What worries them most is voiced in the House of Lords by Lord Birkenhead. He is alarmed chiefly at France "expending large sums on these enormous armaments while owing us immense sums which there is no prospect of our receiving either at present or in the near future."

SWEET

On a farm near Brattleboro is a tree from which white men tapped their first Vermont maple sugar. That was in 1764. This old tree, still as erect as a steel spike, should have a monument when it dies. It started a big industry. Some 35 million pounds of maple sugar are produced each year in America, a third of it in Vermont.

What wonderful friends and benefactors the trees have been to us! Yet we continue destroying our forests—killing the goose that lays the golden eggs. Forest preservation is the greatest problem of our many national resources.

SILKEN

Costs a lot of money to keep the girls in silk stockings and allied accoutrement. Last year, says a government report, our country imported nearly 366 million dollars worth of raw silk, or four and a half times as much as in 1913. However, for our money we got less than twice as much silk (in tons) from abroad in 1922 as in 1913. Which shows how the price hoax can fool us on foreign trade, coming in or going out. Also how prices have gone up.

HENPECKED

A village where the women rule the men is discovered in South American jungles by Dr. Alexander Hamilton Rice, Boston globe-trotter and explorer. Modern Amazons.

Rice says the women do all the bossing, order the men to bring firewood, clean the primitive cooking utensils, and so on. If the men object, they are rapped over the head with a club carried by the vixen who is chief of the whole outfit. Many a henpecked husband has dreamed of such a place.

DIVORCE EVIL

The English are alarmed because they have 3464 suits for divorce filed in one year. Shucks! Here in America we have that many divorces every 11 days, and our population is less than three times as many as England's. Every time there are nine marriages in our country there's one divorce—about a million marriages and over 112,000 divorces a year.

RELIGIOUS PERSECUTION

Whether Patriarch Tikhon of the orthodox church in Russia has really meddled in politics and worked illegitimately against the Soviet Government is not clear. Naturally he is opposed to Sovietism, but he would not have been expected to take sides on such an issue. His domain is purely spiritual. He may have been guilty of a lack of tact, rubbing the Soviet officials the wrong way instead of trying to get along with them for the sake of continuing his clerical work unhindered. But tactlessness is not a crime in any country. And there is nothing in the accusations brought against him publicly by the Soviet representatives to indicate criminality. Their talk is big, but their testimony is childish.

The conclusion seems inescapable that the Soviet government has determined to do away with Tikhon as it did with Dutkevitch, the Roman Catholic prelate, because he wants to crush out organized religion in Russia. It seems, at bottom, a strange jealousy of all authority, even in spiritual matters, except that of the Soviet itself.

This is nothing less than, than religious persecution, of which history is full of examples. And Lenin, Trotsky et al. should learn from those examples, unless they think that "history is bunk." Martyrs have always been the seed of the church, and religious persecution has always strengthened the cause of the persecuted sect.—Minot Daily News.

IGNORANCE OF THE BIBLE

Many a college student today, I feel sure, would fail to find anything funny in Tom Sawyer's predicament when before the assembled Sunday school he was asked to name the first two disciples, and answered David and Goliath. When Mark Twain wrote his earlier books, Hebrew apostles and prophets, Christian apostles and martyrs were familiar acquaintances of elementary school children. Many of our recent college graduates know as little of them as they do the Greek mythology. Not long ago one of the students in the course of history of religions which I have mentioned informed me (on paper) that the ancient Hebrews were fairly moral considering their times. "Though of course they did not have our Ten Commandments."—Yale Review.

FROM HARDING'S PAPER

We note that a well-known magazine says that the farmers of the land want Henry Ford to have Muscle Shoals, but as the same magazine has been boasting Mr. Ford in every one of its issues for months, we have a suspicion that Henry has been allowing in some more money for "literation" in the hope of advancing certain political aspirations.—The Star, Marion, O.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

Down the magic steps into Raggy Land went Mister Tatters, followed by Nancy and Nick, whose magic shoes has made them as small as the tatteries themselves. All the other Raggies came trooping after, a jumpy looking crowd in their queer coats and ends of clothes.

But then what was the use of them dressing up when they had so much to do? They were all inside. Rag Tag carefully closed the trap door overhead, shutting out all daylight. But instantly a soft light penetrated the darkness, for a million glow-worms turned on their lamps.

"Make yourselves quite at home, my dears," said Mister Tatters. "You may stay as long as you wish as long as you are careful not to rub the magic smudges out of your noses. The trouble is that you may get caught in a storm and if you are not extra careful, the rain will wash them off—the smudges, I mean—not your noses."

"Rain!" exclaimed Nancy and Nick together. "Down here under the ground?"

"Of course," smiled Mister Tatters. "The ground is as porous as a sieve and the raindrops right through. There! I feel a drop right now. I'll run and get you each a tooth-stick umbrella."

Away he went, returning quickly with an umbrella in each hand. "Here you are," he said. "It's queer!" said Nick. "When we were outdoors the sun was shining."

Mister Tatters smiled again. "Well, this is not rainy rain. It's sprinkly rain out of Farmer Brown's watering bucket. This part of Raggy Land is right under his sassa patch garden and he is now watering his lettuce bed and onion bed and all his other beds."

Nancy laughed. "Isn't it funny, calling garden beds and patches. They must be beds under patch-work quilts."

"That's right," nodded the little fairy man. "But here we are talking when there is a whole carload of work to be done."

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO HER FRIEND, BEATRICE GRISHAW.

MY DEAR BEE:

I don't you ever get married? Until you have a little income of your own. Of course I presume that it comes harder for me than for most girls to be dependent, for dad was so lovely that I never had to ask him for anything.

I had a generous allowance and, besides that, a credit account at all the stores. I think that child sister of mine is right when she said I should never have married a poor man, although how she came to have the presence of this I do not know.

Naturally when I went to furnish my house I spent every cent that mother had given me for all the beautiful things I thought I needed. It never entered my mind that more money would not be forthcoming from Jack for my personal expenses.

Bee, I have been married for a long while, as you know, and Jack has never given me a cent. He seems to think if he pays the grocery bills and bills from other stores where we have credit, that I do not need money.

I expect I ought to ask him for a personal allowance, but somehow I cannot bring myself to do it. Of course, never having been married before, I expect Jack just does not realize that I need a little money for my own personal expenses.

Yesterday I invited some girl friends to a luncheon at the downtown hotel where we lived until the apartment was ready and where, of course, my credit was good. I would have liked to have taken them to a lovely new place, but I had no money. In fact, I had no money to see the waiter.

I got even with Jack, however, for I put a whopping big fee on the bill and told the waiter to get it at the desk. I saw one of the women who had been married longer than I look rather significantly at one of the other women and I was sure they both understood.

It is only a little thing, Bee, but it is really spoiling all Jack's goodness. He is just lovely about such a lot of things that I know I should not let this little thing worry me so. But you must know, Bee, it is the little things that dominate life.

It is true that it is the big things that draw us up to heaven or crush us down to hell, but the little things live beside us on this earth—eat and sleep with us—laugh and grumble with us—irritate and appease us.

We love little things, we hate little things, we fear little things from the day we are born until the day we die.

It is always the little things that count and, because we women have learned this and never ignore this knowledge, marital unhappiness stalks through wedded lives.

Have you heard from Sally? I am quite ashamed to find fault, but I suppose Sally is perfectly happy in her perfectly modern married life.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Calvin Gray arrives at Dallas and rents the most expensive suite in the most exclusive hotel. Because he is financially broke, Gray accepts a commission from a friend, who is vice president of the largest jewelry house in Dallas. He goes to Ranger and sells valuable diamonds to Gus Biskow who has struck oil. Gray meets Ma Briskow, Allegheny the daughter, and Ozark, the son. Gray falls in love with Barbara Parker, who buys land for Henry Nelson. He calls at Nelson's office and warns him that he means to crush him financially. Nelson denies Gray.

It must be midafternoon until he consulted his watch and discovered that, to all intents and purposes, he had completely lost two hours. An amazing loss, truly. There was no lack of youthful vigor in Calvin Gray's movements at any time, but now there was an unusual lightness to his tread and his lips puckered into a joyous whistle. It had been a great day, a day of the widest excitement, a day of the widest excitement. And that is what every day should be.

CHAPTER XII
Four Against One

If Gray cherished any lingering doubts as to the loyalty of Malloy, erstwhile victim of his ruthlessness, or of McWade and Stoner, the wildest promoters, those doubts vanished during the next day or two. As a matter of fact, the realness, nay, the enthusiasm with which they fell in with his schemes convinced him that he had acted wisely in yielding to an impulse to trust them.

At their first council of war Gray gave each of them a number of definite things to do, or to have done, while he sought certain facts; when they assembled for a second time, it was to compare, to tabulate, and to consider an amount of information concerning the activities of Henry Nelson that would have greatly surprised that gentleman had he been present to hear it.

For some time longer the conspirators busied themselves over the details of their plans, and Gray was beginning to feel some satisfaction at his rate of progress when an interruption took the form of a call from a group of highly excited and indignant purchasers of stock in the Desert Scorpion Company that promotion in which Professor Malloy has assisted on the morning of Gray's arrival.

They had been sold, victimized, flimflammed, skinned, the stockholders stung in the pocket, the promoters boiling their veins. Briefly, the swindle was this: investigation had shown that the land owned by the Desert Scorpion was not where it had been represented to be, but more than a mile distant therefrom. "Chance alone had brought forth the truth; the hour of vengeance had struck."

Calvin Gray withdrew quietly from the hubbub and asked Malloy, "Can that be true?"

The eminent scientist shrugged, out of the corner of his mouth he murmured: "Why not? It all looks alike."

McWade and Stoner were not in the least dismayed by this amazing intelligence, as a matter of fact the former assumed an air of even greater geniality than usual and nodded a careless agreement to every accusation hurled against him.

"Right you are, men! Absolutely right. We were victimized, but we're tickled to death to rectify the error. Mighty fortunate mistake, as a matter of fact. Brick, out with the old check book and give these birds back their money." With alacrity Mr. Stoner cleared off his desk and stood up and set a dollar a shroud just what you paid. Fair enough, I call it. The banks are open and the checks are good."

Immediately the repurchase of stock began, but anger and suspicion still smoldered there were dissatisfied mutterings. One investor a field man in greasy overalls, spoke out:

"We'll get ours all right. Don't worry. But how about the other suckers? There's fifty thousand shares out. What are you going to do about that?"

"We'll pay a dollar and a half a share for all you can get, tomorrow."

There was a stir among the indignant speculators; the man for whom Stoner was writing a check inquired: "What's the idea? Why not a dollar and a half now?"

Stoner and McWade exchanged a meaning glance—it was not lost upon their attentive audience—but the latter shrugged and smiled provocatively. "That's our business," he declared, lightly. "You ghost dancer want your money back and we're giving it to you. You're letting up a holler that you were robbed, so come and get it. The faster you come the better it'll suit us. Scorpion stock will close at a dollar and a half or better tomorrow night."

"Bluff!" somebody growled.

Stoner finished his signature with a flourish, blotted it, then he hesitated. He hung down his pen and turned defiantly upon his partner crying:

"This ain't fair to these men, Mac. They're customers of ours and we owe 'em the chance to make a killing. It's up to us to tell 'em the truth."

McWade was angry. His indignation flamed vigorously he denied the charge of unfairness. A spirited argument ensued.

Umpire: Tony Pleva.

Clean baseball is assured in the North Dakota State Baseball League which opens today, President Logan Powell of Jamestown declared in a message to fans of the cities in the circuit, on the opening today.

The league got under way with Jamestown playing the New Rockford-Carrington team at Carrington, and Minot playing Bismarck here.

President Logan Powell's message is as follows: President Logan Powell has the following message to give the baseball loving public in the cities of the League. "We are going to cater to the public at all times, shall give you clean baseball under the jurisdiction of the National Association of Minor League Clubs and have instructed the umpires to have at all times the interest of the fans who make the game the great National sport, at heart. We thank you for your confidence in us thus far and sincerely trust that we shall continue to merit your good will. It is our ambition to make the North Dakota League the best in its class and your co-operation toward this end is at all times solicited."

President Powell is confident that the league, a class D organization with a salary limit of $2,000, and under the jurisdiction of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, will show a fine class of ball all season.

Able Set of Managers
It is believed that there is no Class D League in the country which has a more able set of managers than this four club circuit.

Herb Hester with fifteen years of managerial experience in the Minors is piloting the Minot club. E. C. Whiting a graduate of the Double A ranks is in charge at Jamestown. Earl Pickering, the greatest of all around athletes ever graduated at the University of Minnesota is at New Rockford-Carrington and Tom Shanley former member of the St. Paul American Association Club and a successful minor league manager is at Bismarck. The Class D salary limit of $2,000 will be observed to the letter and the clubs have until June 1, to get in within the limit.

With New Rockford and Carrington separated by a beautiful gravelled road of less than fourteen miles the attendance from both cities at all games is expected to be big and in order to satisfy both cities, President Powell has arranged for scheduled games to be played in each city alternately, that the season will open at Carrington today and the following day the two clubs will move to New Rockford for the opening.

At Jamestown May 30th
After playing a five game schedule for the opening series Bismarck will move to Jamestown for the opening on Memorial Day, May 30, and New Rockford-Carrington will travel to Minot to play the lid open in the latter city.

Two games will be played on the afternoon of Memorial Day, the first starting at 3 P. M.

President Powell has assigned Tony Pleva, with fifteen years of minor league experience to umpire the opening game at Bismarck and "Labe" Saffro, well known former pugilist and minor league umpire will handle the indicator at New Rockford-Carrington.

Short jumps between the cities comprising the circuit, a strict adherence to the salary limit and the determination of President Powell to suppress the slightest attempt at rowdiness or any misconduct on the field of play is expected to make the league a model in its class.

Outfielder Coming
Manager Shanley of the Bismarck club today wired Carl Condon, outfielder, Timberlake S. D., to report to the Bismarck club. Condon is an outfielder and was with Aberdeen for a time last year. Until he comes Shanley will play a pitcher in left field.

Herb Hester, manager of the Minot team, accompanied by Larry Byrne, former chief of police of Minot, players and a number of Minot fans arrived here to see the opening game. Hester claims that the team taken from Bismarck the honor of having the best baseball park in the circuit. The Minot team will play at the Northwest Fair Grounds, where a concrete grandstand and new bleachers were built.

DEMPSEY SEES HARD FIGHT

Tommy Gibbons To Be Toughest Customer, He Says

Shelby, Mont., May 24.—Jack Dempsey faces the "hardest fight of his career," in his bout with Tommy Gibbons, of St. Paul, July 4, it was declared by Jack Kearns, manager for the boxer, who today at a luncheon at the hotel where he is staying, declared that Gibbons was the toughest customer he had ever fought.

Dempsey is "up against the hardest fight of his career," because Gibbons is a hard fighter and the "best boxer in the world," Kearns said and he also stated that if the fight went over as it looks it would be a "not be surprised to see the winner of the match and Harry Wills, colored heavy-weight, fight for the world's championship in Shelby Labor day next. Kearns stated that since signing articles he had been offered half a million dollars to stage the Dempsey-Gibbons battle at the Polo grounds in New York. He did not state, however, who made the offer.

It would take the Niagara River, flowing at its present rate a million years to fill the Pacific Ocean basin. Numerals, as used today, are only about 1000 years old.

"SAFE!" SAYS VANDERLIP

The site has not been selected but it probably will be in the Yankee stadium, providing the state athletic commission raises no barrier. Despite reports that the commission had ruled against further appearance by Willard in this state, because he is over the age limit of 38, that body has as yet taken no official action. Willard still holds the license he was granted for his bout with Floyd Johnson at the Milk Pump heavy-weight show May 12.

New Jersey Willing
Boyle's Thirty Acres, in Jersey City, is available if the bout is not held in New York. The New Jersey boxing commission announced that it would permit Willard to fight Firpo there provided the former champion passes a physical examination as prescribed by the New Jersey authorities.

The winner of the Firpo-Willard match will be signed for a title bout with Jack Dempsey unless the latter is dethroned in the main event by Tom Gibbons. This assurance was given by Rickard to the boxers when he first made negotiations to match them.

EBBETTS WILL KEEP DODGERS HE DECLARES
New York, May 24.—Colonel T. L. Huston, who on Monday sold his half interest in the New York Yankees to Colonel Jacob Ruppert, will not be able to acquire an interest in the Brooklyn Nationals at least this season.

Colonel Huston's statement from the Yankee ownership aroused immediate reports that he might buy into the Brooklyn club but Charles H. Ebbetts, president of the Dodgers, and his two partners, Ed and Stephen McKewen, denied that their interests were now for sale.

There will be positively nothing doing in the way of selling my interest in the Brooklyn club until after the 1923 season," Mr. Ebbetts said. "Because of my health and other considerations I feel that I may sell after this season and then again I may not. I have been in baseball all my life and realize fully how hard it will be for me to quit active participation in the game. While I may sell, the probabilities are that I will not."

"IRON MAN" JOE, 52, PITCHES 4 HIT GAME
Waterloo, Iowa, May 24.—"Iron Man" Joe McGinnity, aged 52, twenty-five years ago the idol of the New York baseball fans, ended the losing streak of the Dubuque club in the Mississippi Valley League, of which he is manager, yesterday, when he held Marshalltown to four hits and Dubuque won 1 to 0.

Chicago, May 24.—In the main the east had all the best of it during the two baseball invasions that ended yesterday. American League teams from the east won the majority of their western contests, while the eastern Nationals, battling on their home grounds, sent the western invaders back with more losses than victories to their credit.

Has Peculiar Stance
Williams has a rather peculiar stance at the plate, and in National League circles is known as a dead right field hitter. Opposing teams play him in much the same manner as American League clubs figure Ruth.

The first baseman swings over to the foul line, the second baseman moves far to his left almost to where the first sacker usually plays, the shortstop is just to the right of second base, while the third baseman occupies what is about the natural position for the shortstop.

In keeping with the infield defense the outfield swings clear to the right side of the field.

The pitchers work with the defense by keeping their stuff on the inside, thereby hoping to force Williams to hit in accordance with the shift of the defense.

At the Phillies park Williams will receive much assistance in his home-run feats by a very short right field fence. Fly balls that would be out on many parks go for homers at Philadelphia.

Can Williams keep up his slugging on the road? His chance to set a new home-run record depends entirely on what he will be able to accomplish on foreign soil.

The four eastern American League clubs play each other today while the western forces do likewise. The Philadelphia Athletics will meet the speeding Yankees at Philadelphia and Detroit and Cleveland will go respectively against Chicago and St. Louis.

Boston, which meets Washington today, won the only American League contest yesterday from Cleveland.

FIRPO WILL MEET WILLARD

Articles Are Signed For Bout In New York on July 7

New York, May 24.—Louis Angel Firpo-South American heavyweight, signed articles with Tex Rickard to fight Jess Willard, former world's champion, on July 7, in New York or vicinity.

The agreement clinching the match was signed after a conference between Firpo and Rickard, at which the promoter was understood to have revised the original offer he made for the fight and which the South American declined.

Terms were not revealed, but it was believed that they will guarantee each of the boxers not less than $100,000.

Dated Is Definite.
Willard signed articles with Rickard recently, just prior to his departure for a vacation in California.

Rickard announced he had decided definitely to hold the bout on July 7 because it would give Firpo more time in which to train; following his engagements next month in Cuba and Mexico.

The site has not been selected but it probably will be in the Yankee stadium, providing the state athletic commission raises no barrier. Clean baseball is assured in the North Dakota State Baseball League which opens today. President Logan Powell of Jamestown declared in a message to fans of the cities in the circuit on the opening today. The league got under way with Jamestown playing the New Rockford-Carrington team at Carrington, and Minot playing Bismarck here. President Powell's message is as follows: "I am glad to give the baseball loving public in the cities of the league. We are going to enter to the public at all times, shall give you clean baseball under the jurisdiction of the National Association of Minor League Clubs and have instructed the umpires to have at all times the interest of the fans who make the game the great National sport, at heart. We think you for your confidence in us thus far and sincerely trust that we shall continue to merit your good will. It is our ambition to make the North Dakota League the best in its class and your co-operation toward this end is at all times solicited."

President Powell is confident that the league, a close D. organization with a salary limit of $2,000 and under the jurisdiction of the National Association of Minor League Clubs, will show a fine class of ball all season. Able Set of Managers. It is believed that there is no club in the country which has a more able set of managers than has this club circuit. Herb Hester with fifteen years of managerial experience in the Minors is piloting the Minot club, E. C. Whiting a graduate from the Double A ranks is in charge at Jamestown. Earl Picketing, the graduate of all around states, ever graduated at the University of Minnesota, is in charge at New Rockford-Carrington and Tom Shanley former member of the St. Paul American Association Club and a successful minor league manager is at Bismarck. The class D salary limit of $2,000 will be observed to the letter and the clubs have until June 1, to get in within the limit.

With New Rockford and Carrington separated by a beautiful gravelled road of less than fourteen miles, the attendance from both cities at all games is expected to be big and in order to satisfy both cities, President Powell has arranged for scheduled games to be played in each city alternately, thus the season will open at Carrington today and the following day the two clubs will move to New Rockford for the opening.

At Jamestown May 30th. After playing a five game schedule for the opening series Bismarck will move to Jamestown for the opening on Memorial Day, May 30, and New Rockford-Carrington will travel to Minot to play the lid open in the latter city.

Two games will be played on the afternoon of Memorial Day, the first starting at 3 P. M. President Powell has assigned Tony Pleva, with fifteen years of minor league experience to umpire the opening game at Bismarck and "Lube" Saffro, well known former pugilist and minor league umpire will handle the indicator at New Rockford-Carrington.

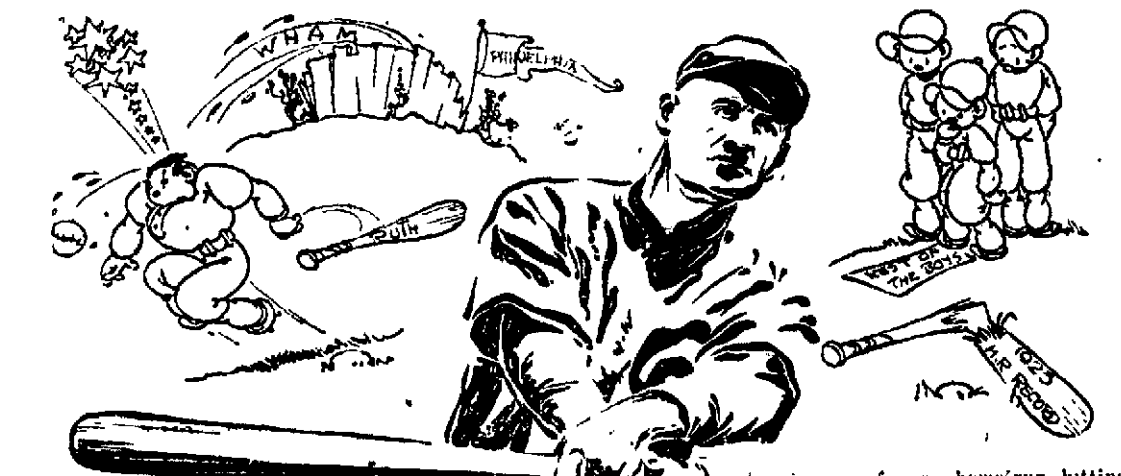

Short jumps between the cities comprising the circuit, a strict adherence to the salary limit and the determination of President Powell to suppress the slightest attempt at rowdiness or any misconduct on the field of play is expected to make the league a model in its class.

Outfielder Coming. Manager Shanley of the Bismarck club today wired Carl Condon, outfielder, Minneapolis, S. D., to report to the Bismarck club. Condon is an outfielder and was with Aberdeen for a time last year. Until he comes Shanley will play a pitcher in left field.

Herb Hester, manager of the Minot team, accompanied by Larry Bryne, former chief of police of Minot, players and a number of Minot fans arrived here to see the opening game. Hester claims Minot has taken from Bismarck the honor of having the best baseball park in the circuit. The Minot team will play at the Northwest Fair Grounds, where a concrete grandstand and new bleachers were built.

He refused to comment on his team, saying it would take time to

CAN CY BEAT BABE RUTH'S RECORD? Slugging Outfielder of Phillies Is Making Great Showing

By BILLY EVANS
Is the 1923 to see a new home-run king crowned?
Is Rogers Horn by, the man who dethroned Babe Ruth, destined to hold his laurels only one short year? And Williams better known as Cy, who captains in the outfield for the lowly Phillies, is the latest athlete to aspire to the title.

Babe Ruth in setting his mark of 59 home runs in 1921 averaged a home run a trifle better than every third game. That in itself is a most remarkable feat, I doubt if it is ever equaled.

Williams, however, is hot on the trail of the Ruth record and in the first 21 games played he has outdone the remarkable performance of the Yankee star.

Hot on Ruth's Trail
In compiling his first dozen home-run record, Williams on May 11, in the game with the St. Louis Cardinals jumped his mark from nine to fifteen by hitting three home runs in five times at bat. In so doing he tied the modern record for home runs in a major league game, first made by Ken Williams of the St. Louis Browns and later equaled by Walter Hjalme of the Phillies. On May 12 Williams reached the so-called unlucky 13.

What's in a name? Nothing perhaps, yet it is rather singular that Cy Williams of the Phillies and Ken Williams of the Browns should now be showing the way in the two major as far as home-run hitting is concerned. While always a hard hitter it was not until last season that Williams began to win fame as a fence-buster. In 1922 he ranked second to Hornsby, who led both major leagues with 12 homers. Williams made 26.

Hay Peculiar Stance
Williams has a rather peculiar stance at the plate, and in National League circles is known as a dead right field hitter. Opposing teams play him in much the same manner as American League clubs figure Ruth.

The first baseman swings over to the foul line, the second baseman moves far to his left almost to where the first sacker usually plays, the shortstop is just to the right of second base, while the third baseman occupies what is about the natural position for the shortstop.

In keeping with the infield defense the outfield swings clear to the right side of the field.

The pitchers work with the defense by keeping their stuff on the inside, thereby hoping to force Williams to hit in accordance with the shift of the defense.

At the Phillies park Williams will receive much assistance in his home-run feats by a very short right field fence. Fly balls that would be outs on many parks go for homers at Philadelphia.

Can Williams keep up his slugging on the road? His chance to set a new home-run record depends entirely on what he will be able to accomplish on foreign soil.

DEMPSEY SEES HARD FIGHT

Tommy Gibbons To Be Toughest Customer, He Says

So far, Mont, May 21. Jack Dempsey faces the "hardest fight of his career," in his bout with Tommy Gibbons, of St. Paul, July 4, it was declared by Jack Kearns, manager of the bout.

Dempsey is "up against the hardest fight of his career," because Gibbons is a hard fighter and the "best boxer in the world," Kearns said and he also stated that if the fight went over as it looks it would, he would not be surprised to see the winner of the match and Harry Wills, colored heavyweight, fight for the world's championship in Shelby Labor day next. Kearns stated that since signing articles he had been offered a half a million dollars to stage the Dempsey-Gibbons battle at the Polo ground in New York. He did not state, however, who made the offer.

It would take the Niagara River, flowing at its present rate, a million years to fill the Pacific Ocean basin. Numerals, as used today, are only about 1000 years old.

EASTERN BALL CLUBS WALLOP WEST'S TEAMS

Both in Nationals and in Americans the East Has The Better Of It

GIANTS UNBEATABLE

McGraw's Wonder Team Continues to Hang up Victory Most Every Day

Chicago, May 24.—In the main the east had all the best of it during the two baseball invasions that ended yesterday. American League teams from the east won the majority of their western contests, while the eastern Nationals, battling on their home grounds, sent the western invaders back with more losses than victories to their credit.

While the Giants were making a clean sweep of the St. Louis series, 4 to 1, Brooklyn climbed over Chicago into fourth place by downing the Reds, 7 to 1. Boston helped precipitate the Cubs by beating them, 6 to 4, and the Pirates again beating the Phillies 7 to 6.

The trip to the western National League clubs have disclosed an almost unbeatable team in the New York Giants.

After taking every series with the west the Giants met the Phillies today.

The romp with Philadelphia has been beneficial for the Pirates as it gave them an opportunity to steal away from St. Louis and gain a half grip on second place. Touted as the strongest team of the west the Cardinals had less luck with the Giants than the Pirates, for whom Babe Adams twirled one victory.

Today the Pirates meet the Cardinals in Pittsburgh for a battle for second place which is bound to help the Giants.

FIRPO WILL MEET WILLARD

Articles Are Signed For Bout In New York on July 7

New York, May 24.—Louis Angel Firpo, South American heavyweight champion, articles with Tex Rickard to fight Joe Willard, former world's champion, on July 7, in New York or vicinity.

The agreement clinching the match was signed after a conference between Firpo and Rickard, at which the promoter was understood to have revised the original offer he made for the fight and which the South American declined.

Terms were not revealed, but it was believed that they will guarantee each of the boxers not less than $100,000.

Date Is Definite.
Willard signed articles with Rickard recently just prior to his departure for a vacation in California.

Rickard announced he had decided to fight to hold the bout on July 7 because it would give Firpo more time in which to train following his engagements next month in Cuba and Mexico.

The site has not been selected but it probably will be in the Yankee stadium, providing the state athletic commission raises no barrier. Despite reports that the commission had ruled against further appearance by Willard in this state, because he is over the age limit of 38, that body has as yet taken no official action.

Willard still holds the license he was granted for his bout with Floyd Johnson at the Milk Fund heavyweight show May 12.

New Jersey Willing.
Boyle's Thirty Acres, in Jersey City, is available if the bout is not held in New York. The New Jersey boxing commission announced that it would permit Willard to fight Firpo there provided the former champion passes a physical examination as prescribed by the New Jersey authorities.

The winner of the Firpo-Willard match will be signed for a title bout with Jack Dempsey unless the latter is dethroned in the meantime by Tom Gibbons. This assurance was given by Rickard to the boxer's when he first made negotiations to match them.

EBBETTS WILL KEEP DODGERS HE DECLARES

New York, May 24.—Colonel T. L. Huston, who on Monday sold his half interest in the New York Yankees to Colonel Jack Sappington, will not be able to acquire an interest in the Brooklyn Dodgers at least this season.

date-reports that he might buy into the Brooklyn club but Charles H. Ebbetts, president of the Dodgers, and his two partners, Ed and Stephen McKeever, denied that their interests were now for sale.

There will be positively nothing doing in the way of selling my interest in the Brooklyn club until after the 1923 season," Mr. Ebbetts said. "Because of my health and other considerations I feel that I may sell after this season and then again I may not. I have been in baseball all my life and realize fully how hard it will be for me to quit active participation in the game. While I may sell, the probabilities are that I will not."

"IRON MAN" JOE, 52, PITCHES 4 HIT GAME

Waterloo, Iowa, May 24.—"Iron Man" Joe McGinnity, aged 52, twenty-five years ago the idol of the New York baseball fans, ended the losing streak of the Dubuque club in the Mississippi Valley League, of which he is manager, yesterday, when he held Marshalltown to four hits and Dubuque won 1 to 0.

"As a medicinal aid to one's general health I consider Tanlac has no equal," declared Mrs. Nevel Kilp, 1641 Broadway, Kansas City, Mo. "Before I took Tanlac I had been managing a chain of shops and through overwork my strength and energy decreased almost to the vanishing point. My appetite was very poor, and even the little I did eat caused terrible attacks of indigestion and my cheeks were losing their glow of health.

"However, four bottles of Tanlac relieved my troubles entirely, I have a ravenous appetite, the healthy glow has returned to my cheeks, and I have the energy of a school-girl. I sleep so well it takes a giant alarm clock to wake me. I'm always ready to praise Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

BANDITS HOLD UP FARGO MAN

Fargo, N. D., May 24.—Two unmasked bandits, armed with .45 caliber automatic revolvers, held up A. C. Sigelen, traveling passenger representative for the Pennsylvania railway system, in front of the Lee tire shop, 620 Second av N, about 10:30 Tuesday night, and robbed him of $57 in currency and his railway passes.

Sigelen, who arrived in Fargo on Great Northern train No. 1 from Minneapolis at 6 p. m., told the police that he was returning to the Powers hotel along Second av N when the two men stepped out from the doorway of the tire shop and shoved their guns into his ribs with the command to stick up his hands quick.

Told to "Beat It" After relieving him of his money and passes the two men ordered him to "beat it," he said. When he got to the corner of Roberts st and Second av N, Mr. Sigelen said he looked back and saw the two bandits dodge into an alley.

The police were notified a few minutes later and a search was made of the alley but the empty purse was the only clue found. All outgoing trains were watched and plain clothesmen were put on the job in a search of the robbers, but no trace has yet been found of them.

Your Kidneys or Back Bother You?

Austin, Minn.—"Some time ago I caught a heavy cold which settled on my kidneys and affected my bladder. I suffered intensely and had to take to my bed. My mother recommended Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache) Tablets and I took them to relieve the congestion in my kidneys and bladder. They soon gave me relief, and not only that, but they eventually restored me to my usual good health. I took six bottles of Anuric, but it was well worth it for my kidneys and bladder have been in perfect condition ever since."—Mrs. John Zook, 103 S. Jay St.

Since it is such a simple matter to step into a drug store and obtain Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets, anyone who earnestly desires to regain health and new life will waste no time in obtaining them.

BRYAN WINS NEW BATTLE

Fundamentalists Win Out in Presbyterian Convention

The fundamentalists, opposed to the liberal interpretation of the Bible as expounded by Dr. Fosdick, succeeded in forcing the adoption of a minority report of the committee on bills and overtures and directs the Presbytery to require the preaching in the First Presbyterian church of New York City, where Dr. Fosdick delivered his famous "Shall Fundamentalists Win?" sermon to conform to the Presbyterian doctrine.
